Court of Appeal • Court of King's Bench • Court of Justice

About this Guide

This Guide applies to civil, family (including child protection), traffic and provincial offences, youth and adult criminal proceedings in the Alberta Court of Justice, the Court of King's Bench of Alberta, and the Court of Appeal of Alberta. In this Guide, "the Courts" or "the Court" refers to one or all of these Courts. The Court of King's Bench is also referred to in short form as the "King's Bench." The Alberta Court of Justice is also referred to in short form as the "Court of Justice."

The Guide covers access to court proceedings, information, documents and exhibits by members of the public, including the media. It also covers restrictions on access to or publication of court information. The Guide is intended to be a practical resource and is not intended to be a substitute for legal advice or a review of the relevant legal authorities.

The Guide has been approved by the Courts for public use, including by the media. The Guide also acts as an internal resource for court staff. All references to JOIN or CASES are intended for internal use only.

Access to the court record in the Court of Appeal is governed by the Policy for Public Access to the Court Record. To the extent that the provisions and definitions in this Guide differ from the Policy, the provisions and definitions in the Policy take precedence.

Links in the Guide (in blue text) lead to glossary definitions, to other locations in the text or to online resources, including resources on the albertacourts.ca website and statutes as published on CanLII.org.

Chapter 1 describes basic principles and general access procedures.

Chapter 2 "About Restrictions on Access or Publication," describes the basic types of restrictions on access or publication and the related procedures for court staff.

Chapters 3 through 7 describe restrictions on access or publication that affect court records in the various types of cases: civil, family, provincial offences, youth and criminal.

Chapter 8 addresses access to exhibits in each type of case.

Chapter 9 addresses public fatality inquiries.

The Glossary provides the authoritative definition of terms used in the Guide.

Revision History	131

1. General Principles and Procedures

Generally, court information and court proceedings are open to the public and the media. This is a fundamental principle of our legal system. This Guide's purpose is to describe the exceptions to this principle: when restrictions on access or publication do affect the public and the media. The authority for the restriction may come from the law or from a court order.

1.1 Principles

Every court has a supervisory and protecting power over its own records: [AG \(Nova Scotia\) v MacIntyre, \[1982\] 1 SCR 175](#). Thus, policies about access to court records are subject to judicial direction.

Most often, court information and court proceedings are open to public and media access. Under the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms, section 2(b), everyone has the fundamental freedom of “thought, belief, opinion and expression, including freedom of the press and other media of communication.” In Vancouver Sun \(Re\), 2004 SCC 43, the Supreme Court of Canada wrote the “open court principle is inextricably linked to the freedom of expression protected by s. 2(b) of the Charter” and advances its core values.

However, full access to court information or court proceedings may be restricted when the restriction is necessary to protect other very important social values. This Guide focusses on exceptions to open access.

- ➔ Access may be limited by law (a statutory provision or a common law rule) or by a court order made by a judge.

1.2 Scope of this Guide

This Guide covers access to court information, documents and exhibits by members of the public, including the media. It also covers restrictions on access to or publication of court proceedings or court information. This Guide applies to court information in civil, family (including child protection), traffic and provincial offences, youth and adult criminal proceedings in the Alberta Court of Justice the Court of King's Bench of Alberta and the Court of Appeal of Alberta (Court of Appeal). In this Guide, “the Courts” or “the Court” refers to one or all of these Courts. The Court of King's Bench is also referred to in short form as the “King's Bench.” The Alberta Court of Justice is also referred to in short form as the “Court of Justice.”

- Generally, members of the media have the same level of access that members of the public have. This Guide identifies any specific access that is available to accredited media as distinct from the public.
- Parties to a case sometimes have access as of right to information in a case beyond what is available to the public and the media.
- This Guide specifies when there is public access to records from court docket systems. By default, there is no public access to docket system records.

This Guide does not deal with access to court administration records. The Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act \(FOIP\) governs access to those records.

Access to the court record in the Court of Appeal is governed by the Policy for Public Access to the Court Record. To the extent that the provisions and definitions in this Guide differ from the Policy, the provisions and definitions in the Policy take precedence.

Note: in this document,

- Hyperlinked blue text indicates a cross-reference to another part of the Guide, to a defined term in the glossary or to the text of a statute online.
- “Court information” may refer to court records, files, documents, transcripts or exhibits.
- The court record is the part of court information which contains the permanent record of a case and which, barring specific exclusions by statute or court order, is available to the public.
- “Access” may include searching for, viewing, or copying court information. Not all types of access are always available.

The Guide also sets out procedures for court staff, to ensure that staff keep an accurate record of any restrictions on access or publication that apply to a particular case. All references to JOIN or CASES are for internal use only. In addition, the Guide references court rules and statutes that apply to various proceedings. These details are set out in text with a yellow background, with a green caption above it, like this:

Table 1: Reference table example

This is an example of a reference table that describes details of court staff procedures and provides hyperlinked references to applicable laws and rules of procedure.

1.3 General access procedures

Access to Courthouses and Courtrooms

Members of the public and the media can usually attend court proceedings. Spectators in the courtroom must not disturb the court proceedings. If court is in session, spectators should enter quietly and close doors to the courtroom gently. Spectators should not talk in the courtroom.

The “bar” in a courtroom is a railing enclosing the part of the courtroom where judges, court staff, lawyers and accused persons sit and where witnesses are heard. Members of the public and the media must stay behind the bar unless invited by the judge or the court clerk.

Cameras and Electronic Recording Devices in Court

Except as otherwise provided for in a court policy, the Court’s permission is required before anyone can use cameras or electronic recording devices of any kind, including cell phones, in courthouses or in-person courtrooms. The local court administrator can receive requests for permission and will contact the appropriate authority to obtain a decision. Alternatively, a request can be made directly to the Chief Justice of the particular Court.

Members of the media who wish to record audio in court must first receive approval from the relevant Court, as set out in the policies noted below.

For Court of Justice, see the Media web page for:

- ➔ Use of Electronic Devices Policy
- ➔ Media Accreditation Policy

For King’s Bench, see the Public & Media Access web page for:

- ➔ Use of Electronic Devices Policy
- ➔ Media Accreditation Policy

➔ Policy on the Use of Electronic Devices in Courtrooms

Photographs or video recordings of judges of the Court of King's Bench may be taken in the limited circumstances set out in the Court of King's Bench's Policy re: Use of Photographs or Video Recordings of Judges.

Recording, live streaming or broadcasting the video or audio of any remote hearing and the use of screen capture technology is strictly prohibited. See the Addendum to this Guide for more information with respect to each Court's remote hearings policies.

- Court of Appeal: Photography and Recording web page uses the King's Bench list.

Information Requests

For access to records in different types of cases, see chapters 3 to 9 in this Guide.

Court staff require specific information to conduct a search of court files and docket systems.

- ➔ Court staff do not have access to searches by topic, or to statistics about court matters. For those inquiries, see Requests for Comments.
- ➔ Closed case files may be stored off site, and this may make retrieval and access a slow process. However, basic information about the case may still be available in the relevant docket system.

The Alberta Justice, Resolution and Court Administration Services (RCAS) Contact Centre provides information without cost but does not have access to the physical court file or to some categories of information. See Information by Telephone and Email.

- ➔ At court locations, a search fee applies to searches. See Access Requests at a Court Location.
- ➔ The Court of Justice hears provincial and municipal ticket cases.
 - For traffic tickets, the ticket holder can use the My Alberta eServices portal Fine Payments web page to search using the ticket number to look for violation tickets, notices of time to pay and notices of conviction, or to pay the fine online. To use the site, the user must know the ticket number.
 - For adults, if the ticket number is not known, court staff or RCAS Contact Centre staff can find the record and provide the ticket number.
 - For youths, RCAS Contact Centre staff will not be able assist beyond giving the date and courthouse for the next hearing; inquiries must be made at a court counter.
 - If the user has the ticket number but cannot find the ticket on the Fine Payments web page, this may mean that it is not yet in the system. Simply try again later.
- ➔ For all tickets, at the Court of Justice counter, the information required to search is the accused's first name and surname. To limit search fees and to narrow the results to the intended accused, other details may be necessary, such as a location, ticket number or birth date.
- ➔ If the accused in a provincial or municipal ticket case is a youth:
 - To members of the public and the media, court staff can provide only the next court appearance date and location.
 - Court staff can provide more information only to the youth, the youth's parents or guardians and the youth's lawyer of record.
 - For other inquiries, court staff will consult the Assistant Chief Justice or designate.
 - For more information about access to youth records, see Chapter 5, Traffic and other Provincial Offences and Chapter 6, Youth Justice Matters.
- ➔ For civil and family information, the requester must provide the case number or a party's first and last name. Additional details such as the court location may help to narrow the search results to the intended case or party and reduce search fees.

➡ For criminal information, the requester must provide the accused's first and last name. Searching using a common name may lead to a significant cost for viewing multiple files. To limit the search and reduce search costs, the requester may wish to provide more information, such as:

- a case number
- the court location
- the name of a co-accused or victim
- the accused's birth date
- the charges.

Note: In criminal matters, this search of the Court's information is not a criminal record check. It can only show the records the Court has about an individual's interactions with the Courts in Alberta. Criminal record checks and vulnerable sector checks are available from police services.

Information by Telephone and Email

The RCAS Contact Centre provides court information via phone and email and does not charge a fee. RCAS Contact Centre Advisors can provide information about civil and family law proceedings, as well as about provincial tickets and criminal proceedings. They can also assist callers with information about available services and referrals to external agencies.

However, the RCAS Contact Centre does not have access to some categories of court information or to the documents on the case file. RCAS Contact Centre Advisors do not have access to information about:

- Court of Appeal cases
- Child protection cases

As well, statutes restrict the information that can be provided about youth offence matters. For youth matters, the RCAS Contact Centre can provide only the courthouse and next court date. For more information about accessing information in youth matters, see Chapter 6, Youth Justice Matters.

➡ RCAS Contact Centre services are free to use.

- Services are available Monday to Friday, from 8:15 am to 4:30 pm, except on statutory holidays and the days between Boxing Day and New Year's Day.
 - Call toll free, 1-855-738-4747; in Edmonton, call 780-638-4747
 - There is also an Information Kiosk in the Edmonton Law Courts (main floor, Court of Justice annex)
- Members of the media are encouraged to use the RCAS Contact Centre's email address CourtChecks@gov.ab.ca.
- For additional services available to the media via the Department of Justice Media Line, see Requests for Comments.

For each subject area (Civil, Family, Criminal, Traffic, Youth), RCAS Contact Advisors will need the requester to provide the details noted above. As detailed in other chapters of this Guide, sometimes the law limits access to the information or it can only be provided at a court location.

For information not available via the RCAS Contact Centre, Contact Advisors will refer the caller to the appropriate court office.

Documents Filed in Court

Timeliness is an important part of access to court information. Court staff will provide access as quickly as possible, although they must first ensure that:

- Judicial direction is followed.
- Matters in court proceed on time.
- The needs of parties, witnesses, interpreters and jurors are met.

Court counter services are available at courthouses Monday to Friday from 8:15 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., except for statutory holidays and the days between Boxing Day and New Year's Day.

Staff will review the court file's status before providing access. Staff must ensure that they provide only publicly accessible documents for viewing by members of the public or the media. Court staff must limit access to court information when the law or a court order require a restriction.

Historical searches

Searches for information from closed cases may take longer. The paper files for historical matters are not stored in the local courthouse, so retrieval may take some time. Criminal files are “historical” after five years from the date of sentencing. For historical files, the approximate date of disposition may also be required to enable retrieval of the correct record.

Search Request Forms

Search request forms are available online. (Available on the Media web page for the Court of Justice, the Public and Media Access web page for the Court of King’s Bench and the website of the Court of Appeal.)

- Search Request (Criminal/Traffic)
- Search Request (Civil/Family)

The Application for Release of Young Offender Data form, which is the form required to apply for youth information, is also available online or from the court clerk.

Note: If you are having difficulty opening a Search Request or the Application for Release of Young Offender Data form, (i.e. getting messages about updating Adobe Reader):

- Choose “Always Open in System Viewer” after download.
- Try right-clicking on the link or download button and choosing "Save Link As..." and then opening the file from your computer.
- Or try clicking the pdf icon in the address bar and selecting open in Adobe Viewer or see more information here.

In the Court of King’s Bench searches for criminal matters can be made by submitting the search request \(criminal/traffic\) form to the courthouse in person, or requests may be made by email. Email requests must use the naming convention CRIMINAL FILING-SEARCH REQUEST-FILE NUMBER-LOCATION. If the file number is not available include as much information as possible on the request form. Search requests can be emailed to:

In the Court of King's Bench for civil matters, court information may be viewed in person, or it can be requested through the online search portal at this website:

<https://eservices.alberta.ca/court-of-kb-civil-search-request.html>

Please note the online search portal is reserved only for King's Bench searches. Court of Appeal and Court of Justice search requests continue to be submitted to the specific court location.

For King's Bench search requests submitted through the online portal, the search request is completed by filling out and submitting the web-based form.

Fees

Search requests must be paid for in advance.

Payment must be provided in advance through the website, which accepts credit cards and Interac Online. Some things to note about submitting a civil search request through the online portal:

- All searches are province wide.
- Search by party name will produce a list of all the actions for or against the named person or company. This is sometimes referred to as a "litigation search".

- The search fee is $10 to search for actions commenced by a party and $10 to search for actions against a party. Parties can be persons or companies.
- If you know the action or file number or are searching for a specific action or file (example Jane Doe vs. John Doe), choose the "Search by Action/File number" option. The fee is $10.00 and will include a list of all documents filed.
- Certification fee is $10.00 per document.
- Copies of Clerk's notes can be obtained by completing the name of party to be searched and action number fields. There is no additional cost for this request.
- Additional fees may be assessed by court offices, including photocopy fees.

Once the search request and payment are received by the Clerks' Office and the search request is processed, results and any requested documents will be emailed to requesters. There is a fee for emailing documents.

If members of the public and the media wish to view court information in person, or wish to search for Court of Appeal or Court of Justice matters, they can request access by completing a search request form (links below) and paying the search fee of $10 for each search request. There is a $10 viewing fee for each additional file. In-person payment can be made by cash, cheque, or credit card. Once payment is received and the search request is processed, the court information will be retrieved by staff. There may be a viewing area at or near the court counter. Unless the law or a court order restricts access, anyone may receive a photocopy of documents. There is a fee for photocopies.

Note: Search requests for Court of Appeal matters are subject to the Public Access to the Court Record Policy.

- Self-made copies: anyone who has access to view a file and to receive copies may make their own copy of a document (for example, with a smartphone or a portable scanner), if they can do so without disrupting court operations. Only the search fee is then charged. Photos may be taken only of documents in the court file or of exhibits. The photography and portable scanning must take place in the court administration area or in a courtroom.

Note: The Court of Appeal’s official record is electronic; the making of self-made copies is not applicable to the Court of Appeal unless records exist only in paper.

- In criminal and youth matters, the accused and the lawyer of record are entitled to free copies of some records. See Table 64.

Table 3: Procedure – Fees

Court staff must charge a fee for searches, inspections, and copies of court files. Transcripts must be ordered from Transcript Management Services. The cost of transcripts is set by the Alberta Rules of Court, Schedule B, Division 4, Tariff of Fees Payable for Court Reporting Services.

Alberta Rules of Court, rule 13.32 and Schedule B: Court Fees and Witness and other Allowances

Table 4: Procedure – Search requests

For access to court documents and information at a court location, the requester must complete a search request form (links above). Court staff can ask a supervisor for help if they are having difficulty with a request. If the search request is submitted through the online portal, the requester will have provided all required information through the web-based form and no additional paperwork is required.

- In JOIN (criminal and youth matters in the trial courts), always check for a BPF (Ban on Publication see File) event code, read the comments, and review the file.
- For searches by accused and counsel, see Table 64.
- In CASES (family and civil cases in the trial courts), always check for the codes and comments that indicate a restriction on access or publication as set out in this Guide and review the file.

For details about access to information from various categories of cases, see the individual chapters in this Guide:

- 3 Civil Matters – Restrictions on Access
- 4 Family Matters – Restrictions on Access
- 5 Traffic and other Provincial Offences – Restrictions on Access
- 6 Youth Justice Matters – Restrictions on Access
- 7 Criminal Matters – Restrictions on Access
- 8 Exhibits – Restrictions on Access
- 9 Public Fatality Inquiries – Restrictions on Access or Publication

Exhibits

Exhibits are documents or objects provided as evidence in court. Unlike records produced by the Court or pleadings and affidavits filed by parties, exhibits are the property of parties or non-parties, but the Court maintains custody and supervision over them. Exhibits are not kept indefinitely in the Court's records.

Consistent with the open court principle, exhibits are available to the public and the media, with certain exceptions. When considering a request for access to an exhibit, the Court weighs factors such as the effect that access would have on privacy interests or on the right to a fair trial.

To request access to an exhibit, complete the form Request for Exhibit or Private Hearing Record, and pay the search, copy or emailing fees.

If you are having trouble opening PDF forms (i.e. getting messages about updating Adobe Reader):

- Choose "Always Open in System Viewer" after download.
 - Try right-clicking on the link or download button and choosing "Save Link As..." and then opening the file from your computer.
 - Or try clicking the pdf icon in the address bar and selecting open in Adobe Viewer or see more information here.
- ➡ Self-made copies: anyone who has been granted access to an exhibit may make their own copy of a document or photograph (for example, with a smartphone or a portable scanner), if they can do so without disrupting court operations. Only the search fee is then charged. The photography and portable scanning must take place in the court administration area or in a courtroom.

Note: The Court of Appeal's official record is electronic; the making of self-made copies is not applicable to the Court of Appeal.

- ➡ Only a judge can direct who has access to exhibits.

Unless access to an exhibit is governed by statute or restricted by a sealing order, restricting access to an exhibit is a discretionary decision. For more information about discretionary orders, see Orders Restricting Access or Publication.

Table 5: Procedure – Request for exhibit or private hearing record

King's Bench and Court of Justice

Use the Request for Exhibit or Private Hearing Record form for public and media requests for access to exhibits or to files or documents from private hearings.

If you are having trouble opening PDF forms (i.e. getting messages about updating Adobe Reader):

- Choose “Always Open in System Viewer” after download.
- Try right-clicking on the link or download button and choosing "Save Link As..." and then opening the file from your computer.
- Or try clicking the pdf icon in the address bar and selecting open in Adobe Viewer or see more information here.

Upon receipt of the completed Request form from the requester, court staff will check whether the file is accessible. (The file may be sealed or a law or court order may make the file inaccessible to the public.) If the file is not accessible, the requester will need a court order to view the information.

If the file is accessible, court staff will promptly send the completed Request form to a judge (the presiding judge, if available, or if that judge is not available, to any judge of that court) for a review and response. Court staff will also send the judge a copy of any Request forms that are already on the court file.

1. Judges will respond as quickly as possible.
2. Court staff will then process the request as instructed by the judge.
3. The completed Request form will be retained on the court file.

Court of Appeal

Exhibits from the trial court may be included in the Extracts of Key Evidence. Requests to access Extracts of Key Evidence must be made in accordance with the Public Access to the Court Record Policy.

Transcripts

Transcripts are available only from Transcript Management Services, on payment of a fee. Because of the work needed to prepare them, transcripts are more expensive than photocopied documents. Requesting a faster delivery time increases the cost.

- Fees for transcripts are set in the Alberta Rules of Court: Schedule B, Division 4, Tariff of Fees Payable for Court Reporting Services.
- Transcripts can be ordered online with a credit card; for users without a credit card, or for more information about transcripts, contact Transcript Management Services:
 - Online ordering:
<https://www.alberta.ca/order-courtroom-transcript.aspx>.
 - Email questions to tms.calgary@gov.ab.ca (or leave a voicemail message at 403-297-7392)
 - In the Court of Appeal, only the transcript of the oral submissions or argument can be ordered, and only for proceedings that took place on or after January 1, 2019. Any request for a transcript prior to that date must first be approved by the Court. See Policy on Access to Transcripts of Oral Proceedings and Undertaking. Transcripts of any oral decision are generally not available. The Court of Appeal requires a completed Undertaking to the Court of Appeal for Access to Court Transcript. You must upload and provide the Undertaking when ordering a Court of Appeal transcript.
- Publication bans generally do not affect access to a transcript. All transcripts bear a general warning notice:

This transcript may be subject to a publication ban or other restriction on use, prohibiting the publication or disclosure of the transcript or certain information in the transcript such as the identity of a party, witness, or victim. Persons who order or use transcripts are responsible to know and comply with all publication bans and restrictions. Misuse of the contents of a transcript may result in civil or criminal liability.

- Sealing orders and confidentiality requirements may restrict access to a transcript. To release a transcript from a sealed or confidential matter, it is necessary to first obtain a court order and provide it to Transcript Management Services.
- In the Court of King's Bench, Resolution Counsel meetings and Early Intervention Case Conferences, Pretrial Conferences and Judicial Dispute Resolutions involving self-represented litigants are recorded, but transcripts are not available except as permitted by the Chief Justice or Associate Chief Justice.

- ➔ In the Court of Appeal, Appeal Conferences are recorded, but transcripts are not available unless permission is obtained from the Court.

Court Audio Recordings

Unofficial recording by accredited media

Only accredited media may be permitted to use devices to record the audio of court proceedings. See Cameras and Electronic Recording Devices.

Official court audio record

Except in exceptional circumstances, the Court of Appeal will not grant permission to release court audio.

For proceedings heard in the Court of King's Bench or Court of Justice, all requests for a copy of the official audio record must include a signed Undertaking to the Court for Access to Court Audio Recording.

- ➔ For requests made by accredited media and members of the Law Society of Alberta, a court order is generally not required.
- ➔ Parties, accused and members of the public must provide the signed Undertaking to the Court for Access to Court Audio Recording and obtain a court order permitting access. The form used for the request includes a space for the Court's order.
- ➔ The following documents are available on the Media web page for the Court of Justice and/or the Public and Media Access web page for the Court of King's Bench:
 - Policy for Access to Court Audio Recordings in the Court of King's Bench of Alberta
 - Policy for Access to Court Audio Recordings in the Court of Justice of Alberta
 - Request for Court Audio Recording and Undertaking to the Court

Table 6: Procedure – Court Audio Request and Undertaking

Unless an access restriction applies to the case, a court order to obtain court audio is not required for members of the Law Society of Alberta and members of accredited media. For lists of accredited media, see:

- Court of Justice: Media Undertaking List on the Media web page.
- King’s Bench: Media Undertakings List on the Public and Media Access web page.

Requests for Comments

Court staff cannot comment on any case.

- ➔ On receiving a request for comment or substantive inquiries regarding the Courts, judges or the content of court decisions, court staff will refer the matter to the Chief’s Office for the respective court.
- ➔ Inquiries about cases in the Court of Justice are referred to its Communications Officer.
 - MediaPC@albertacourts.ca
- ➔ Inquiries about cases in the Court of King’s Bench are referred to its Communications Officer.
 - CommunicationsOfficer.QB@albertacourts.ca
- ➔ Inquiries about cases in the Court of Appeal are referred to Justice Communications.
- ➔ For comments from the Minister or from Alberta Crown Prosecution Service, or statistics from the JSG, members of the media can contact the JSG Media Line (780-644-3009).
- ➔ For inquiries about specific court case-related details, see Information by Telephone and Email.

2. About Restrictions on Access or Publication

2.1 General

This section of the Guide describes the different types of restrictions and how they affect access and publication. After this section, the Guide explains the authority for specific restrictions in civil, family, provincial ticket, youth criminal and criminal law cases. The Guide has a separate section on access to exhibits in each of those types of cases.

- ➔ Restrictions on access prevent members of the public or the media from viewing the affected court information, unless they first obtain a court order to permit access. Usually, the parties to an action have access to their own court file, even when it is closed to the public and the media.
- ➔ Restrictions on publication do not limit viewing of the court information or obtaining copies of court documents but do prohibit publishing the protected information.

2.2 Statutory Restrictions on Access or Publication

Sometimes the law requires a restriction on access to or publication of information, without the need for a court order. One example of this is the ban on identifying a young person involved in proceedings under the Youth Criminal Justice Act.

2.3 Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access

The two basic types of court orders that restrict access to court information or restrict publishing court information are mandatory court orders and discretionary court orders.

- ➔ A court order is mandatory when a law says that a judge or other judicial officer “shall” (must) make an order. Usually, a party must first apply for the order, but there are a few laws that require the judge to make the order even if no one applies for it. (This is different from a statutory restriction, which applies to everyone without a court order being required.)

- A court order is discretionary when the judge can choose whether or not to make the order.
- When judges consider making a discretionary order that restricts access or publication, they apply a test developed by the Supreme Court of Canada that was reformulated in Sherman Estate v Donovan, 2021 SCC 25 at para 38.

For the Court to exercise discretion in a way that limits the open court presumption, it must establish that:

- (1) court openness poses a serious risk to an important public interest;
- (2) the order sought is necessary to prevent this serious risk to the identified interest because reasonably alternative measures will not prevent this risk; and
- (3) as a matter of proportionality, the benefits of the order outweigh its negative effects.

The applicant must show there is a serious risk that disclosure of sensitive biographical core information will adversely affect their dignity (such as information relating to a stigmatized medical condition, involvement in stigmatized work, sexual orientation, history of sexual assault or harassment), or present a serious risk of physical harm. Other categories of recognized public interests that may justify sealing orders, such as trade secrets and competitively sensitive information, do not require consideration of dignity.

In the Court of Justice and King's Bench, the media may register to receive Notice of Applications for discretionary court orders that restrict access or publication. The Court of Appeal also requires that notices of such applications be given to the media, but it does not yet have an electronic notice system. It has used the Court of King's Bench's system in the past.

Note: Most court orders that restrict access or publication are permanent: they will apply in other proceedings in the same case, and in an appeal from the trial court's ruling. Restrictions ordered by one Court usually remain in effect in the Court appealed to unless that Court actually removes the restriction by an order of its own.

Some restrictions are temporary. They expire when the trial or proceeding is over, or when directed by a judge. In this Guide, such temporary restrictions are specifically identified when applicable.

Table 7: Procedure – Applications for restricted court access or publication

Applications for a discretionary order restricting court access or publication require notice to parties, the media and others if the Court directs.

Court of Justice

1. For family and criminal law matters, anyone who seeks an order to restrict access or publication must apply online using the prescribed form on the Court’s website: Electronic filing of Notice of Application for Publication Ban \(Practice Note and online form\). This form sends a notice of the application to media who have registered to receive notices.

King’s Bench

1. For all applications for a discretionary restriction on access or publication, applicants must complete the online E-Notice of Restricted Access Application, and must file a copy of the notice when filing the application.
2. For civil and family law matters, the procedure is set out in the Alberta Rules of Court, Part 6, Division 4.
3. For criminal matters, the procedure is set out in the Court of King’s Bench of Alberta Criminal Procedure Rules, Part 2, Division 7 and Criminal Practice Note #4.

Court of Appeal

1. A restricted access order made by a court appealed from applies to the appeal, unless otherwise ordered by a single appeal judge.
2. A single appeal judge may make a restricted court access order under the Alberta Rules of Court, Part 6, Division 4.

Alberta Rules of Court, r 14.83

When a judge makes an order in court that restricts access to court information, or restricts publishing information relating to a court proceeding, court staff note the order on the “Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access” form, also known as the “Goldenrod form” (See Appendix 1). The form is kept in the court file. The completed form is itself a concise record of the court order or orders made during the case. The reverse side of this form provides instructions on its use and lists some of the common restrictions required by law.

- Unless access to the file is restricted, anyone may have a copy of a document, including the completed “Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access” form, on providing the required information and paying the required fee.

Sometimes restriction orders are prepared by counsel or the judge and are filed and served, rather than the order being made in court. Unless the restriction order specifically restricts access to the order, these forms of order are also available on providing the required information and paying the required fee.

- A publication ban restricts publication only. It does not limit access to information in the court file.
 - Orders that restrict publication include a ban on identifying someone or on publishing information until the end of the trial.
 - Documents and transcripts that are subject to a publication ban are available to members of the public and the media, but it would be an offence for them to publish the protected information.
- Orders that restrict access include sealing orders, confidentiality orders and orders for private hearings.
- This is not a complete list. Other types of orders are possible.

Table 8: Procedure – Orders restricting publication or public access

See “Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access” form (see Appendix 1). The clerk in court must complete the Goldenrod form and attach it to the court file whenever a judge makes an order in court that restricts access to the file or restricts publishing information from a file or court proceeding.

1. The form includes instructions on how to use it – clerks should review to ensure they follow the correct procedure.
2. This is a cumulative form. If at all possible, note later restrictive orders in same case on the same form.
 - If photocopies or scans of the form are needed, use manual settings on your photocopier to ensure that the copies or scans are not too dark.

3. The order or orders must also be noted in the applicable computer docket system (JOIN or CASES). In the following sections in this chapter, this Guide includes specific instructions for each type of restriction.
4. Court staff must post a sign about the restriction (“Ban on Publication” or “Private Hearing”) in the courtroom where the matter is being heard. A notice must also be posted on the courtroom door.
5. Court staff must also log the applicable ban in the FTR Log Notes as set out in the Digital Recording Manual. (staff link)

Appeals

When the Court of Appeal requests the publication and access status from another Court, that Court must forward a photocopy or scan of the following by email or fax:

1. the “Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access” form (see Appendix 1),
2. the related clerk’s notes or court endorsements, and
3. a copy of any other order that restricts access or publication.

The Court of Appeal does not require the original form from the other Court.

2.4 Types of Restrictions on Access or Publication

A. Publication Bans

Sometimes a law or a court order requires a publication ban. Publication bans forbid publishing the protected information. A publication ban does not restrict access to a court file or limit viewing or copying information in the court file for private use, unless the law or the court order specifically requires those restrictions in addition to the publication ban.

- Publication bans do not prevent access to the information in the court file. Court staff will provide the information but will inform the requester about the publication ban.
- Sometimes the only information that cannot be published is information that would identify the person protected by the ban; these bans are called “identification bans.” Examples include:
 - The court-ordered ban on identifying victims in some criminal proceedings (see 7.6 in this Guide); and

- The statutory ban on identifying children and their parents or guardians in child protection proceedings (see 4.5 in this Guide).
- ➔ Most publication bans are permanent and will apply in other proceedings in the same case, including an appeal from the trial court’s ruling. Bans made by one Court usually remain in effect in the Court appealed to unless that Court removes the ban by an order of its own.
- ➔ Some publication bans expire when the trial or proceeding is over, or when directed by a judge.
 - Under the Criminal Code, some bans last only until the end of a trial. See sections on judicial interim release (7.3), preliminary inquiry (7.4) and jury trials (7.5). These bans are sometimes called “interim bans” because they are in effect only until the trial is over.
 - A judge may also order a common law ban that is temporary in its effect.

Table 9: Publication bans – Statutory provisions

Note: This table lists common statutory provisions and is not comprehensive.

Statutory Publication Bans (no order required)

Child Protection Proceedings

- All child protection statutes have a ban on publishing information that would identify a child, parent, or guardian in connection with the child protection proceeding.

Child, Youth and Family Enhancement Act, section 126.2
Protection of Children Abusing Drugs Act, section 7
Protection of Sexually Exploited Children Act, section 6.3(1)

Criminal Code

- section 278.95\(1\) – ban on publication of application to admit evidence of complainant’s prior sexual conduct, content of the hearing and decision
- section 278.9\(1\) – ban on publication of application to admit complainant’s or witness’ personal records, content of the hearing and decision
- section 542\(2\) – fact of or details of any confession tendered at a preliminary inquiry

- section 648(1) – proceedings in the absence of the jury – automatic

Youth Criminal Justice Proceedings

There are restrictions on access to records under the following statutes. See Chapter 6.

Youth Criminal Justice Act

- section 110(1) – no publication of information that could identify the young person as a young person dealt with under the Act
- section 111(1) – no publication of information that could identify a young witness or young victim in connection with proceedings under the Act

Youth Justice Act (Alberta)

- section 24 – no publication of information that could identify the young person as a young person dealt with under the Act, or as a young witness or young victim in connection with proceedings under the Act

Mandatory Publication Bans (court must make order)

Criminal Code

- section 486.4 – in any sexual offence case, and in any other case when the victim or witness is under age 18, the Court must inform the victim or witness of their right to apply for an order, and must make the order if the victim or witness asks for it.
- section 486.4(3) – in section 163.1 (child pornography) proceedings, judge must make order banning publication of the identity of a witness under age 18 and of any person who is the subject of material that constitutes child pornography.

Discretionary Publication Bans (court may make order; discretionary)

There are specific procedural and substantive requirements for discretionary publication bans. For more information about discretionary orders, see Orders Restricting Access or Publication.

A discretionary publication ban may be set out in a statute. The Court may also have the power at common law to make a discretionary order banning publication of information (a “common law” ban).

Criminal Code

- section 486.5(1) – identity of any victim or witness in proceedings other than those addressed in s 486.4, upon application of the prosecutor, victim or witness.

- section 486.5(2) – identity of any "justice system participant" (s 2) in any prosecution for an offence listed in s 486.2(5), upon application of the prosecutor or a justice system participant.
- section 517 – evidence, information, submissions and judicial reasons at judicial interim release hearing – discretionary upon prosecutor's application (mandatory upon accused's application).
- section 539(1) – evidence taken at preliminary inquiry – discretionary upon prosecutor's application (mandatory upon accused's application).
- section 631(6) – identity of a juror, upon application of the prosecutor or on the Court's own motion.

Protection Against Family Violence Act

- s 8(3) – a report or any part of a report of a hearing; usually used to ban publication of identity, but a complete ban is also available.

CIVIL

Adult Guardianship and Trusteeship Act

- s 113(2)(c) – information given at a hearing or contained in documents filed with or received by the Court.

Income Tax Act

- s 241(4.1)(b) - The person who presides at a legal proceeding relating to the supervision, evaluation or discipline of an authorized person may ban the publication of the information.

Customs Act

- s 107(11)(b) - The person presiding at a legal proceeding relating to the supervision, evaluation or discipline of a specified person may order any measure that is necessary to ensure that customs information is not used or provided to any person for any purpose not relating to that proceeding, including banning the publication of information.

FAMILY

Child, Youth and Family Enhancement Act:

- s 126.3 – no publication that reveals the deceased child received intervention services, the name or a photograph of the deceased child, of any parent or guardian of the deceased child or of any other individual identified in the order.

Family Law Act

- s 100 – any report that may identify the child

Family Homes on Reserves and Matrimonial Interests or Rights Act

- s 19 – any information in a court document or record, including the name or identifying information of a party, witness or child

Table 10: Procedure – Publication bans

If a document or court file is subject to a publication ban order or a statutory ban, court staff must inform the person who seeks to view the document or file.

1. For court staff procedure on publication ban orders made in court, see “Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access” form (Appendix 1).
2. Statutes and court rules usually impose a publication ban during the application for a publication ban, so the court clerk should post the “Ban on Publication” sign.
3. A publication ban does not, on its own, limit public or media access to the information in the court file, but makes it an offence for anyone to publish the protected information.

Note the publication ban order in the relevant electronic docket system.

In JOIN (King’s Bench and Court of Justice criminal/youth/provincial offence matters):

1. For the first order in that Court that restricts access or publication, enter the event code BPF (Ban on Publication see File). Entering BPF sets the BAN flag on the Charge Detail inquiry screen to Y.
2. In the comment screen, specify the statute, section number and short description, e.g., BAN ON PUBLISHING VICTIM/WITNESS IDENTITY (for common law orders, describe the order), the date of the order if different from the date of entry in JOIN and the name of the judge who made the order.
3. BPF can be used once for each Court of Justice docket number and once for each King’s Bench docket number (even if already used on the Court of Justice record for the same matter).
4. For later publication ban orders, add the order details to existing comments for the initial BPF code.
5. If the BPF comment screen becomes full, make the last comment “CONTINUES: SEE BAN COMMENT.” Then add a BAN event and comment as at #2 above.
 - Note: The code BAN does not set the BAN flag to Y.
6. If an existing publication ban is lifted, use event RTF (Refer to File) to add details regarding the order that lifted a publication ban.
7. If all publication bans and restrictions on access are lifted, use event code BPL. This code does not have a comment screen. Use RTF and comment to add an explanation.

For further instructions, see the CJ Criminal and KB Criminal Manuals.
(staff links)

In CASES (King's Bench and Court of Justice civil, family or child protection matters):

1. For a statutory ban, enter the code SBPUB (Statutory Ban on Publication). This sets the Confidential flag to Y, which is correct for child protection matters per CYFEA, section 126. (Child protection is the only matter SBPUB applies to.)
2. For a court-ordered ban, enter the code BPUB (Ban on Publication).
 - BPUB also sets the confidential flag to Y. However, as noted above, a publication ban does not, on its own, limit public or media access to the affected court information from the court file or system. It only makes it an offence for anyone to publish the protected information.
3. In the comment (BR-ID: COMNTU), specify the date, the statute name and section number and a brief description (for common law orders, describe the order); for a court-ordered ban, add the name of the judge who made the order.

B. Private Hearings

Note: Private hearings may also be called “closed,” “in camera” or “public excluded.” This Guide uses the term “private hearings” to encompass all these terms.

A private hearing is a hearing in a courtroom that is closed to the public. Private hearings are open only to those specifically permitted to attend. Usually this will be the judge, court staff, the parties and their lawyers. Some legislation permits the Court to also exclude a party.

Any member of the public or the media may ask to view or copy court information from a private hearing, unless the law or a court order restricts access.

- ➡ The special search request form is the “Request for Exhibit or Private Hearing Record.” Payment of the search fee is required.
 - For the procedure relating to this request form, see Table 5.
 - For access to audio recordings from private hearings, see Table 6.

Section 54Table 12: Procedure – Private hearing – Digital Display System

The Digital Display System (DDS) gets its information from JOIN and CAMS. The presiding judge may instruct staff not to include the private hearing in the listings of the day's proceedings. (The hearing subtype code is X for Exclude; do not send.)

Court of Justice

- For process hearings, use "Process Hearing" in JOIN in place of the accused's name. Do not use "Private Informant."
- If process issues, change the record back to the accused's name.

Table 13: Procedure – Private hearing – Courtroom clerk

If a private hearing is taking place, the court clerk must:

1. Place the “Private Hearing” sign on the clerk’s desk and outside the courtroom.
 - Note, signs must say “Private Hearing,” not “In Camera.”
2. If the private hearing was ordered by the judge in the courtroom, note the private hearing on the “Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access” form (see Appendix 1). Add the order to the appropriate place on the form (Part I, criminal and youth); Part II, other statutes; Part III, common law).
 - If necessary, seek the judge’s instructions regarding the statute or common law information.
3. Make sure the public leaves the courtroom and no one can enter. For process hearings, Judges may decide to allow other counsel to remain in the courtroom.
4. For courthouses with media rooms (Calgary, at this writing), the clerk must adjust the Crestron system to turn off audio and video to the media room.
5. Indicate in the log notes “Clerk - Private Hearing commences” when the matter starts and when the private hearing concludes or is no longer private, indicate in the log notes “Clerk - Private Hearing Concluded.” Refer to the Digital Recording Manual for details (staff link).
6. In the Court of Justice, note these details on the endorsement sheet as well.
 - These steps are essential for correct handling of the audio and court exhibits or documents.
7. In the Court of Justice process hearings, if process is denied, the entire process hearing must be logged as a private hearing, unless the judge instructs otherwise.
8. Access to exhibits from private hearings is according to the procedure for “Request for Exhibit or Private Hearing Record.” See Table 5.
9. For documents not marked as exhibits, such as those to be filed immediately after court, the clerk must mark them as “from private hearing.” The documents should be marked in the same way as sealed files or documents; see Table 20: Procedure – Sealed documents and files – File handling.
 - Marking a document “private hearing” does not seal the document, but ensures that the judge can review whether there should be access to the document in the event that a Request for Exhibit or Private Hearing Record form is submitted.
10. The Request for Exhibit or Private Hearing Record procedure will apply to log notes, documents, and exhibits. See Table 5.

Table 14: Procedure – Private hearing – Data entry

In JOIN (King’s Bench and Court of Justice criminal/youth/provincial offence matters): Use BPF; in the comment, note the date and PRIVATE HEARING; for details on the use of BPF/BAN, see Table 10.

In CASES (King’s Bench and Court of Justice family and civil matters):

1. For a private hearing by order, use the code ORPH. Add a comment (BR-ID: COMNTU) to explain what the proceeding was.
2. For a private hearing required by statute or a court rule or policy, use the code PHM. Add a comment to explain what the proceeding was.

Table 15: Procedure – Request for private hearing record

King’s Bench and Court of Justice

Use the Request for Exhibit or Private Hearing Record form for public and media requests for access to exhibits and documents from private hearings. For details, see Table 5.

Table 16: Procedure – Private hearings – Transcript Management

The requester must obtain a court order for the transcript and provide it to Transcript Management Services. The table of contents in the transcript will include a heading such as “Private Hearing.”

Sealed Court Documents or Files

A law or a court order may seal a court file or a document. Sometimes the law requires the judge to make a sealing order, and sometimes the order is at the judge’s discretion.

- ➡ For more about discretionary orders, see Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access.

The seal may affect all or part of a court file. When a court order seals all or part of a file, the sealing order itself is generally not sealed unless that is specifically ordered by the judge.

- ➡ When a court file or document is sealed:

- Members of the public and the media may have access to it only if they first obtain a court order permitting access.
- Court staff cannot release the procedure card or the appeal summary to a member of the public or the media, unless that person first obtains a court order for the release.
- The order identifies the parties and counsel and describes the terms of the order. This is essential information for anyone who wishes to appeal from the order.

Table 17: Sealing court information — Statutory provisions

Mandatory Seal

Criminal Code

- section 187 – all documents relating to an application under Part VI (generally deals with wire taps) must be sealed and kept by the Court in a place with no public access, subject only to further order of a court. A specific sealing order is therefore not required.

Business Corporations Act

- section 231\(6\) – documents in the Court’s possession relating to an application made under ss 231 or 232 (investigation of a corporation) are confidential, unless the Court orders otherwise.

Child, Youth and Family Enhancement Act

- section 74.1\(1\) – the Clerk of the Court must seal all court documents relating to an adoption, and the documents cannot be inspected by any person except by court order or with the Minister’s written consent.
- section 109\(7\) – documents, records or other information subpoenaed by the Court under s 109 (medical evidence) must be sealed, and any part of the record relating to these documents, records or information cannot be made available to the public.

Legal Profession Act

- section 112\(2\)\(b\) – the public must be refused access to records containing evidence or answers relating to information that may be subject to solicitor-client privilege.

Sealing records on the Court’s discretionary order

Note: Each statutory provision concerning a discretionary restriction will set out the basis for the exercise of discretion. The Court may also have the power at common law to make a discretionary restriction order. For more about discretionary orders, see Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access.

Adult Guardianship and Trusteeship Act

- section 113\(2\)\(c\) – restrict access to information in court documents or given at a hearing.

Criminal Code

- section 487.3 – sealing material filed in support of an ex parte application for a warrant under the Criminal Code or any other any other federal statute, a production order under ss 487.012 or 487.013 of the Code or a Feeney warrant under s 529 of the Code.

Customs Act

- section 107\(11\)\(d\) – The person presiding at a legal proceeding relating to the supervision, evaluation or discipline of a specified person may order any measure that is necessary to ensure that customs information is not used or provided to any person for any purpose not relating to that proceeding, including sealing the records of the proceeding.

Family Law Act

- section 65\(7\) – order that financial disclosure documents may not be inspected by anyone other than the parties, except on further order of the Court.

Family Law Practice Note 10

- Family Law Practice Note 10 applies to anyone who requests access to a King’s Bench court file in family law matters. For details, see Access to court files in family law proceedings \(Family Practice Note 10\).

Income Tax Act

- section 241\(4.1\)\(d\) - The person who presides at a legal proceeding relating to the supervision, evaluation or discipline of an authorized person may seal the record of the proceeding.

Mandatory Testing and Disclosure Act

- s 16\(3\) –order that information disclosed under s 16(2)(c) (pursuant to a subpoena, warrant or order) be sealed from the public.

Table 18: Procedure – Sealed audio – courtroom clerk

The judge presiding over a proceeding may direct the court audio to be sealed before, during or after a proceeding.

For all courts, the clerk must log “Sealed proceedings commence” in the log notes and the audio must be sealed in the courtroom using the digital recording program. When the matter ends or becomes unsealed the clerk must log “Sealed portion concludes.”

For specific instructions and for what to do if the audio is sealed after court, see Digital Recording Manual. (staff link)

- These steps are essential for correct handling of the audio and court exhibits or documents.

In the Court of Justice, the clerk may need to note the sealed proceeding on the endorsement sheet, in addition to the FTR log notes.

Table 19: Procedure – Sealed documents and files – Data entry

If sealed by an order made in the courtroom, note the sealing order on the “Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access” form (see Appendix 1), and in the relevant docket system.

In CASES (King’s Bench or Court of Justice civil or family matter):

1. If the sealing is by a judge’s order, enter the code ORSLD (Order to Seal Document) if the order seals only a specific document or documents, or ORSEL (Order to Seal) if the order seals the entire file.
2. In the comment screen, enter a brief description of the order; in the Judge/Justice/Applications Judge field, enter the Judge or Justice’s name.
3. For sealing by a mandatory requirement (statute or court policy), the codes are DSEAL (Document Sealed) and FSEAL (File Sealed).
4. In the comment screen, enter the statute name and the section number, with a brief description.
5. Only the code ORSEL and FSEAL, not ORSLD or DESEAL, causes the information message CONFIDENTIAL to display on the procedure screen.
6. If a document or file is unsealed, the codes are DUNSL (Document Unsealed) or FUNSL (File Unsealed). To remove the CONFIDENTIAL flash on the procedure screen, change the confidential indicator to N in the starting action screen.

In JOIN (King’s Bench or Court of Justice criminal/youth/provincial offence matters):

1. Enter the code BPF, or if BPF is already in use, add a new comment in the comment screen; for details, see Table 10.

Table 20: Procedure – Sealed documents and files – File handling

Members of the public and the media must present a court order before they can be allowed to view or copy a sealed file or record. If an entire file is sealed, the log notes are also not to be provided except with a court order.

Note: Normally the sealing order itself is not sealed. If it appears that it is, or if any of the terms of the order are unclear, court staff must seek directions from the presiding judge.

When a document or file is sealed by law or a court order, court staff for the Court of Justice or the Court of King's Bench must:

1. Place the sealed document or file in an envelope.
2. Write the case name and case number on it; if sealed by a court order, write the name of the judge who gave the order.
3. Seal the envelope with tape and sign it.
4. If the document or file is too big for an envelope, put it in a filing box, write the case name and docket number on it, seal the box, and sign it. Usually the box is stored with the file. If it must be kept elsewhere because of space constraints, note on the endorsement sheet or clerk's notes where the box is stored.

Court of Justice and Court of King's Bench staff can open a sealed document or file only on the instructions of a judge. If the item is to remain sealed afterward, staff must re-seal the envelope or the box again.

1. Record the date and the name of the judge who gave the order to open the envelope or the box.
2. If the envelope or the box is to be resealed, again record the date and the name of the judge on the envelope or the box.

Confidential Documents or Court Files

Sometimes a law or a court order makes a court file or a document in a court file confidential. When a file or record is confidential, it is not physically sealed, but there is no public or media access without a judge's order.

- ➡ Members of the public and the media can have access to a confidential file or document only if they first obtain a court order permitting access.

Table 21: Procedure – Confidentiality

1. If the confidentiality requirement was imposed by an order made in court, note it on the “Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access” form (see Appendix 1).
2. Add it to the relevant docket system.

King’s Bench and Court of Justice

In CASES (civil or family matter):

1. For child protection, enter the code SBPUB (Statutory Ban on Publication). This sets the Confidential flag to Y, which is correct for child protection matters per CYFEA, section 126 (Child protection is the only jurisdiction SBPUB applies to.)
2. For other jurisdictions in CASES there no codes specific to confidentiality; the closest available codes are ORSEL (Order to Seal File) or FSEAL (File Sealed Mandatory) and ORSLD (Order Seal Document) or DSEAL (Document Sealed Mandatory). Use the comment to clarify the status.
3. ORSEL and FSEAL will set the confidential flag to Y.

In JOIN (criminal/youth/provincial offence matter): Use BPF and comment, or if BPF has already been used, add a further comment; for details, see Table 10.

Pseudonyms

A court order may permit a witness or a party to use a pseudonym (an alternate name), testify behind a screen or in some other way prevent anyone, even people in the courtroom, from identifying the person. The identifying information is also concealed in the court file by a sealing order or by editing the documents in the court file.

- ➡ These orders may be discretionary. For more about discretionary orders, see Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access.

Table 22: Procedure – Pseudonym/anonymity orders

Upon receiving a search request for a file that has a pseudonym/anonymity order on it, seek instructions from the judge.

For orders made in court, note the pseudonym order on the form “Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access” (see Appendix 1).

- For criminal and youth matters, Criminal Code section 486.31 (no disclosure of witness identity) is available (Part I of the form).

- For family and civil matters, this will most likely be a common law order (Part III of the form).

King's Bench and Court of Justice

For all orders, make an entry in the relevant docket system.

1. In CASES (civil or family matter): the order would probably include both a publication ban (BPUB) on identity and a sealing order (ORSEL). In the comment, do not include the real identity or initials of the protected person; description is "PSEUDONYM; IDENTITY SEALED ON FILE."
2. In JOIN (criminal/youth/provincial offence matter: use BPF and comment. In the comment, do not include the real identity or initials of the protected person; description is "NO DISCLOSURE OF IDENTITY OF [e.g., "UNDERCOVER OFFICER"]; IDENTITY SEALED ON FILE." For details on using BPF, see Table 10.

3. Civil Matters – Restrictions on Access

3.1 General

Civil court cases can exist in any of the three levels of court: Court of Justice, Court of King’s Bench or Court of Appeal.

- ➔ Court files in most civil cases are accessible to members of the public and the media. The law or a court order may limit access to some court information or the publication of some information.

Before providing access to information in a case, court staff must always check the court file and the applicable docket system for any laws or orders that might restrict access. If a publication ban order affects the case, court staff will inform the person who is requesting access.

- ➔ A publication ban forbids only publication, not access to the information in the court file.

Unless a file is sealed or marked confidential, on payment of the applicable fee, members of the public and the media may view a file or receive copies of a file or part of a file, including the clerk’s notes (in the Court of King’s Bench) or endorsement sheets (in the Court of Justice). In civil and family cases, they may receive a printout from the Court’s electronic docket system listing the events in a case and the documents on the Court’s file. (In the Court of King’s Bench and Court of Justice, the printout is sometimes called the “procedure card;” in the Court of Appeal, the printout is called an “Appeal Summary.”)

- ➔ For general access procedures, see Information Requests.
- ➔ For access to exhibits, see Part 8.

3.2 Adult Guardianship and Trusteeship Act (AGTA)

The Court of King’s Bench hears applications under the AGTA. The hearing of an application is generally open to the public and the media and records under the AGTA are generally accessible. However, a judge may make an order:

- Limiting the persons who may be present at all or part of a hearing (an exclusion order),

- Requiring that all or part of the hearing be held as a private hearing,
 - Restricting access to information given at hearing or contained in documents filed with or received by the Court (a sealing order), or
 - Restricting publication of information given at hearing or contained in documents filed with or received by the Court (a publication ban).
- ➔ These orders are discretionary. The Court will consider whether a restriction order is in the best interests of the adult who is the subject of an application or to whom an application relates or in the interests of the proper administration of justice. For more about discretionary orders, see Orders Restricting Publication or Private Access.
- ➔ To learn about accessing information from private hearing see Table 5.

Table 23: Procedure – Adult Guardianship and Trusteeship Act

The party who wishes to apply for a private hearing order, publication ban order or sealing order must provide notice to the media and must serve notice of the application upon other parties to the proceedings. For notice to the media, see e-Notice of Restricted Access Applications. As proof of the required media notice, the applicant must present a print copy of the media notice email to the clerk.

1. For orders made in court, enter the order on Part II of the “Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access” form. See Appendix 1.
2. For court staff procedure on publication ban orders (orders made under the AGTA, section 113\(2\)\(c\)), see Table 10.
3. For court staff procedure on private hearings (orders made under the AGTA, section 113\(2\)\(a\) or \(b\)), see Table 12 to Table 16.
4. For court staff procedure on sealing orders (orders made under the AGTA, section 113\(2\)\(c\)), see Table 18, Table 19 and Table 20.

3.3 Corporations and Cooperatives

Legislation that concerns corporations and cooperatives may have provisions that require the Court to hold certain proceedings as a private hearing. Sometimes the legislation gives the judge discretion to order a private hearing. The legislation may require or permit confidentiality or a publication ban.

The Court of King's Bench hears cases under this legislation. If that Court orders a matter to be heard in private, then an appeal to the Court of Appeal will also be heard in private.

The Court of King's Bench must hold the following proceedings as private hearings:

- an ex parte application for an investigation order under the Canada Business Corporations Act, section 229.
- an application regarding an appeal tribunal's decision with respect to confidentiality under the Marketing of Agricultural Products Act, section 42\(2\).
- a claim of solicitor-client privilege under the Securities Act, section 57\(3\).

The following provisions permit the Court to order a private hearing. These orders would be discretionary. For more information about discretionary orders, see Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access.

- an application by a corporation to review an authorization under the Alberta Corporate Tax Act, section 60.2\(10\);
- a court hearing in an investigation or a hearing conducted by a court-appointed inspector under the Cooperatives Act (Alberta), section 294\(1\);
- an application to review an authorization under the Fuel Tax Act, section 35\(10\) or the Tourism Levy Act, section 10.1\(10\).
- an application for an investigation hearing under the Canada Cooperatives Act, section 332\(1\).

On judicial review, the Court may give directions to protect the confidentiality of trade union membership or choice of bargaining agent representation: Labour Relations Code, section 19\(3\). Such an order is also discretionary.

The Business Corporations Act has several restrictive provisions relating to investigating a corporation.

- An application for an investigation or for a related order (section 232) must be heard in private unless the Court orders otherwise: section 231\(4\).
- Except with the Court's authorization or the consent of the corporation that is under investigation, there is a publication ban on matters concerning the Court's order for investigation and other orders relating to an investigation: section 231(5).

- Documents in the Court’s possession are confidential unless the Court orders otherwise: section 231(6).
- The publication ban and confidentiality provisions do not apply to court orders made under sections 231 and 232: section 231(7).

Table 24: Procedure – Corporations and cooperatives

If a party is applying for restricted access or a publication order, that party must provide a copy of the required media notice to the clerk.

If a restriction is ordered in court, the clerk must

- note it in Part II (statutory restriction) or Part III (common law restriction) of the “Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access” form (see Appendix 1), and
 - note it in CASES.
1. For court staff procedure on publication bans see Table 10.
 2. For court staff procedure on private hearings see Table 12 to Table 16.
 3. For court staff procedure on sealing orders see Table 18, Table 19 and Table 20.

3.4 Mandatory Testing and Disclosure Act

The Court of Justice hears applications under the Mandatory Testing and Disclosure Act.

- ➡ Information about an applicant or a source individual under this Act is confidential: see section 16 of the Act. (A “source individual” is the person whom the applicant wants to have tested for a communicable disease.)

Under this Act, a subpoena, warrant or court order may require information about an applicant or a source individual. The Court may order a private hearing for that part of the case. The Court may also order that information be sealed in the court file, and that the records relating to that information not be made available to the public.

If a party appeals the case to the Court of King’s Bench, that Court may also order a private hearing for the part of the case relating to information required by a subpoena, warrant or court order.

- ➡ Those orders would be discretionary. For more about discretionary orders, see Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access.

Table 25: Procedure – Mandatory Testing and Disclosure Act

Information about an applicant and a source individual is confidential.

Proceedings relating to information disclosed pursuant to a subpoena may be held in private, and the Court may direct that the information be sealed, and the record of the proceedings not made available to the public.

Mandatory Testing and Disclosure Act, section 16(1), 16(3), 16(4)

These applications are entered on CASES; MTDA is entered on the Start Action Screen.

1. For court staff procedure on private hearings see Table 12 to Table 16.
2. For court staff procedure on sealing see Table 18, Table 19 and Table 20.

3.5 Mental Health Act

The Court of Justice can issue a warrant to detain and assess a person under the Mental Health Act, including persons under the age of 18 years old.

The Court of King’s Bench hears appeals from decisions and orders of Review Boards under this Act. The appeal is held as a private hearing, unless the Court orders otherwise.

Table 26: Procedure – Mental Health Act

For court staff procedure on private hearings see Table 12 to Table 16.

Mental Health Act, section 43(8)

Confidentiality under the Health Information Act applies to the Minister, employees, physicians, and the Review Board.

Mental Health Act, section 17(1.1)

3.6 Public Health Act

The Court of King’s Bench hears applications under the Public Health Act.

- ➔ Records under this Act may be confidential and not available to members of the public and the media.

A judge of the Court of King’s Bench may order the following applications to be heard in private.

- to cancel a certificate directing a medical examination or a treatment: section 39\(8\);
 - to cancel an isolation order: section 49\(4\);
 - for confidentiality or disclosure of communicable disease information: section 54\(3\).
- ➔ Those orders would be discretionary. For more about discretionary orders, see Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access.

If a party appeals a ruling made in a private hearing, the Court of Appeal will hear the appeal in private.

Table 27: Procedure – Public Health Act

For court staff procedure on private hearings see Table 12 to Table 16.

For orders made in court, enter the private hearing in Part II of the “Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access” form (see Appendix 1).

Public Health Act, sections 39\(8\), 49\(4\), 54\(3\)

3.7 Safer Communities and Neighbourhoods Act (SCAN Act)

Under the SCAN Act, a person may make a complaint to the Director of Law Enforcement regarding activities on or near a property or use of a property. Among other available responses, the Director may apply to the Court of King’s Bench for a community safety order. The identity of a complainant under this Act is confidential, and the Director and others acting under the Director’s direction are not compellable to disclose the complainant’s identity.

Table 28: Confidentiality under SCAN Act

Except with the complainant’s written consent, the identity of a complainant is confidential and the Director and others acting under the Director’s authority cannot be compelled to disclose it.

Safer Communities and Neighbourhoods Act, s 31

CASES Data Entry: Code for community safety order is CSOR.

4. Family Matters – Restrictions on Access

4.1 General

Both the Court of Justice and the Court of King's Bench can hear family cases, depending on the situation. A party may appeal an order made in the Court of Justice to the Court of King's Bench and may appeal an order made in the Court of King's Bench to the Court of Appeal.

- Some court cases in family matters are subject to confidentiality requirements or publication bans required by law or court order. Before providing access, court staff will check the court file for any specific restrictions.
- The RCAS Contact Centre can provide some non-restricted information for free via phone or email.

4.2 Court of King's Bench Practice Notes and Early Intervention Case Conference

This Guide mentions only the specific Family Practice Notes and Notices to the Profession and Public that may affect access to court information.

These Family Practice Notes may apply to cases heard in the Court of King's Bench under the Family Law Rules, Part 12 of the Alberta Rules of Court. Family Practice Note 10 also applies to cases under the federal Family Homes on Reserves and Matrimonial Interests or Rights Act.

i. Access to court files in family law proceedings (Family Practice Note 10)

Access to family court files under Family Practice Note 10 is subject to existing laws, court orders and court practice notes that restrict access to such records.

The following information is available to anyone upon providing a search request and paying the search fee:

- the procedure card (list of proceedings and documents filed),
- scheduling information (upcoming proceedings), and
- addresses for service.

For search fees and procedures generally, see Documents Filed in Court.

Apart from specific restrictions on access, the following people can have access to a court file in a family matter in the Court of King's Bench:

- (a) a party to the action, lawyer of record, lawyer for the children or a government employee acting in the course of employment in respect of the specific file;
 - (b) a person authorized by a party, lawyer of record or lawyer for the child(ren) of a party by means of a filed Authority to Access Family Law File (the form is appended to the Practice Note on the court website), and
 - (c) members of accredited media.
- Each time any other person requests access to a court file in a family matter, they must complete and serve a Request to Access Family Law File form upon the parties, the lawyers of record and the lawyer for the child(ren) and file an Affidavit of Service with the Court. (The blank form is appended to Family Practice Note 10.)
 - Both the Request to Access form and the Authority to Access form are included in the Practice Note, and court staff must provide the relevant addresses for service on request.

If a party or a child of a party wishes to prevent access to all or part of the court file, they must bring a restricted court access application under Part 6, Division 4 of the Alberta Rules of Court. The applicant must give notice under Rule 6.31, including notice to the person requesting access to the file and notice to the media under Rule 6.32. Media notice is provided by means of an online form: e-Notice of Restricted Access Application.

If a party or child of a party does not file a restricted court access application within 30 days of service of the Request to Access Family Law File, or if the Court does not make an order to restrict access, court staff must grant access to the file.

Table 29: Procedure – Access to court files in family law proceedings (King's Bench)

Initial information on request

- When requested pursuant to a search request, court staff must provide the following upon payment of the search fee (and copy fee if any; see “Self-service copies”):
 - procedure card
 - scheduling information
 - addresses for service

 - a party, the current lawyer of record or the lawyer for the child(ren)
 - a government employee acting in the course of employment in respect of the specific file
 - a person authorized by a party, lawyer of record or lawyer for the child(ren) of a party by means of a filed Authority to Access Family Law File
 - members of accredited media

Family Practice Note 10, section 4

- Note: For Family Law Act matters, there may be a confidentiality order in place for financial disclosure information. If so, a court order is required before court staff can provide that information to any member of the public or the media. This requirement is in addition to FPN 10 requirements.

Family Practice Note 10, section 1
Family Law Act, section 65(7)

Required before providing further information to other persons

- For anyone not listed in section 4, the following must be in place, each time they request access to anything more than the procedure card, scheduling information or addresses for service:
- An Authority to Access Family Law File is on the court file and it names the person who is seeking access. (The blank form is appended to Family Practice Note 10.)

OR

- The person who is seeking access has:
 - served a Request to Access Family Law File (the blank form is appended to Family Practice Note 10) and filed an Affidavit of Service; 30 days have passed since the date of service;

and,

- either no party or child of a party has applied to the Court to restrict access, or the Court has not made an order restricting access.

➡ Note: For Family Law Act matters, there may be a confidentiality order in place for financial disclosure information. If so, a court order is required before court staff can provide that information to any member of the public or the media. This requirement is in addition to Family Practice Note 10 requirements.

Family Law Act, section 65(7)

Restricted Court Access Application

For court staff procedure, see Table 7.

ii. Early Intervention Case Conference (EICC)

Mandatory EICCs are required when a party does not have a lawyer, and when a trial of three days or more is scheduled. All EICCs are held as a private hearing. The parties and counsel can have access to the digital recording or a transcript only with leave of the Court.

Commencing October 1, 2020, the Court of Appeal introduced an Appeal Conference pilot project that is applicable to family law fast track appeals. These proceedings are held as a private hearing. For more info, visit <https://www.albertacourts.ca/ca/publications/jdr>.

1. For court staff procedure for private hearings, see Table 13 and Table 14.
2. The clerk must indicate in the body of the log notes in bold font: "Transcripts, audio, clerk's notes, and log notes will not be released to the parties (or counsel) without a court order."

iii. Allegation of sexual abuse (Family Practice Note 5)

Family Practice Note 5 applies in the Judicial Districts of Calgary, Edmonton, Grande Prairie, and Red Deer. The party making an allegation of child sexual abuse against a parent must provide a Notification in Form 1 to Child and Family Services and to the Clerk of the Court. On receiving the Notification, court staff must seal related forms and reports in the court file. The parties or their counsel can receive a copy unless the case management judge directs otherwise.

- ➡ If a Form 1 Notification is on the court file, that form, and all Children's Services forms and reports are sealed on the court file.

Members of the public and the media cannot access them, except with an order from the Court.

1. The CASES code for a Family Practice Note 5 form is PN5F.

Court staff must seal related forms and reports. For court staff procedure on sealed documents and files, see Table 19 and Table 20.

Family Practice Note 5

iv. Intervention by a parenting expert (Family Practice Note 7)

The Court may appoint a Parenting Expert to conduct an Intervention where a family is experiencing a state of conflict. There are two types of Interventions:

- Evaluative Interventions provide information to the Court to assist in decision making; and
- Therapeutic Interventions work directly with the family in an effort to resolve disputes, manage conflict and make changes in the existing family dynamic.

The Parenting Expert provides an Intervention Report to the Court. The Intervention Report is sealed on the court file. Represented parties may review the Intervention Report at their lawyer's office, under supervision. A party who does not have a lawyer may ask the Court to arrange for him or her to review the entire Intervention Report in the presence of a court clerk. Parties must not be in possession of a cellphone or other electronic device while viewing the Report, and they must not make notes or copies of the Report except with the Court's permission.

The parties must not discuss the Intervention Report with the children, and they must not attach the Report as an exhibit to any affidavit filed with the Court.

Table 32: Procedure – Intervention by parenting expert

King's Bench

The Parenting Expert's Intervention Report must be sealed on the court file.

Family Practice Note 7, para 33

1. The CASES code for a Family Practice Note 7 Report is FPN7R.

2. For court staff procedure on sealed documents, audio and files, see Table 18 and Table 20.

Court of Appeal

If a party appeals a King's Bench court order to the Court of Appeal, the Parenting Expert's Intervention Report may be filed at the Court of Appeal as part of the Extracts of Key Evidence. Requests to access Extracts of Key Evidence must be made in accordance with the Public Access to the Court Record Policy.

v. Child Custody / Parenting Evaluation (Family Practice Note 8)

Where the parties have reached an impasse and are unable to agree on parenting issues such as parenting arrangements, parenting responsibilities and/or decision-making, the Court may appoint a Parenting Expert to provide the Court with a Child Custody / Parenting Evaluation ("Evaluation"): an objective assessment of the family. The parties cannot receive a copy of the Evaluation Report, but they may receive a copy of the appendix to the Report, containing the Parenting Expert's recommendations.

Represented parties may view the Evaluation Report at their lawyer's office, under supervision. Parties without a lawyer may contact the Court to arrange to review the Evaluation Report in the presence of a clerk of the Court. Parties must not be in possession of a cellphone or other electronic device while viewing the Report, and they must not make notes or copies of the Report except with the Court's permission. Children must not see any part of the Report, and the parents must not discuss the Report with the children.

Table 33: Procedure – Parenting time / parenting responsibilities assessment

The Evaluation Report must be sealed on the court file. With the Court's permission, a party without a lawyer may make an appointment to view the Report in the presence of court staff. The party must not have a cell phone or other electronic device, and may not take notes, except with the Court's permission.

Family Practice Note 8, para 32, 34

1. The CASES code for a Family Practice Note 8 Report is FPN8R.
2. Add a comment (BR-ID: COMNTU); in the comment, add "Per Family Practice Note 8, evaluation report is sealed."

3. For court staff procedure on sealed documents, audio, and files, see Table 18 and Table 20.

Court of Appeal

If a party appeals an order of the Court of King's Bench to the Court of Appeal, the Evaluation Report may be filed at the Court of Appeal as part of the Extracts of Key Evidence. Requests to access Extracts of Key Evidence must be made in accordance with the Public Access to the Court Record Policy.

4.27 Family Law Act (FLA)

The Family Law Act (FLA) applies to family matters, but does not include divorce, adoption or child protection matters. Both the Court of Justice and the Court of King's Bench can hear most FLA matters. However, only the Court of King's Bench has the following powers under the FLA, and therefore records about these matters are kept in the Court of King's Bench:

- To issue a declaration regarding a person's legal status:
 - surrogacy (section 8.2)
 - parentage (section 9)
 - To give an order:
 - for exclusive possession of a home (section 68)
 - for exclusive use of household goods (section 73)
 - directing the Registrar of Land Titles to cancel the registration of an order for exclusive possession of property (section 76)
 - that money be held in trust for someone (section 66\(3\)\(b\))
 - that property be held in trust for someone or transferred to them (section 66\(3\)\(d\)), or
 - that payment of a support order be secured by a charge on property (section 66\(3\)\(g\)).
- ➡ Specific procedures apply to accessing court information in proceedings at the Court of King's Bench under the FLA; see Access to court files in family law proceedings. As well, the Court of King’s Bench may make specific orders that restrict access or publication in specific cases.

The Court may order a private hearing. The order cannot exclude the parties, their lawyers or the child’s lawyer.

- ➔ For more information about accessing records from private hearings see Table 5.

The Court may also order a publication and broadcast ban on any report of a proceeding that may identify the child.

- ➔ A publication ban does not restrict access to the court file, but court staff will inform the requester about the existence of the ban.

On application by any person, the Court may order that financial documents filed with the Court are not available for inspection by anyone other than the parties, except with an order of the Court.

- ➔ This order has the effect of making the financial documents confidential. It restricts access to the documents, unless the person who wants to see the documents can obtain a court order to permit access.

All restrictive orders available under the FLA are discretionary. For more about discretionary orders, see Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access.

Table 34: Procedure – Family Law Act

Court of Justice

On Family Law Act files, any child protection documents must be put into an unsealed, marked envelope when put on file. Staff must mark the envelope “Child Protection – Confidential.” This information must be removed from the file before it is provided to members of the public or media for viewing. See Child Protection

On files where the child protection documents were not kept separate from the Family Law Act matters, staff may consult the court before providing access.

Court orders

- ➔ For orders made in court, enter order in Part II of the “Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access” form (see Appendix 1).

On application, a judge may order that no one can view financial disclosure documents filed under section 65. The effect is similar to a sealing order: there can be no access by members of the public or media, unless they obtain an order that permits access.

- For court staff procedure on sealing see Table 18, Table 19 and Table 20.

Reference: Family Law Act, section 65(7)

The court may make an order to exclude anyone except the parties, the parties' lawyers, and a child's lawyer.

- For court staff procedure on private hearings see Table 12 to Table 16.

Reference: Family Law Act, section 99

The court may order a publication and broadcast ban on any report of a proceeding that may identify the child.

- For court staff procedure on publication bans see Table 10.

4.3 Family Homes on Reserves and Matrimonial Interests or Rights Act

The Court of King's Bench hears proceedings under this Act. Specific procedures apply to accessing court information; see Access to court files in family law proceedings.

The Court may order a private hearing. The order cannot exclude the parties from the hearing.

The Court may also order a publication and broadcast ban on the name or identifying information of a party, child, or witness.

- ➡ A publication ban does not restrict access to files, but court staff will inform the requester about the ban.

The Court may make an order prohibiting disclosure to the public of any information in a court document or record related to a proceeding.

- ➡ This order makes the court documents confidential. It restricts access to the documents, unless the person who wants to see the documents can obtain a court order to permit access.
- ➡ The order prohibits anyone who has the information from disclosing it to others.

All these orders are discretionary. For more about discretionary orders, see Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access.

4.4 Divorce Act

The Divorce Act applies to all matters involving divorce, and may include spousal support, child support and parenting arrangements. The Court of King’s Bench hears cases under this Act.

Specific procedures apply to accessing court information in proceedings under this Act; see Access to court files in family law proceedings. As well, using the Court’s common law powers, a judge may order a publication ban, sealing order or other restriction on access or publication.

- These orders would be discretionary. For more about discretionary orders, see Orders Restricting Access or Publication.

There are no statutory publication bans or restrictions on access to court information contained in the Divorce Act.

Table 36: Procedure – Divorce Act

For the procedure to apply for a discretionary restriction on access or publication in the Court of King’s Bench, see Table 7.

- For orders made in court, enter the order in Part II of the “Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access” form (see Appendix 1).
1. For court staff procedure on publication bans see Table 10.
 2. For court staff procedure on private hearings see Table 12 to Table 16.

3. For court staff procedure on sealing see Table 18, Table 19 and Table 20.

4.5 Adoption of Children

The adoption of children falls under the Child, Youth and Family Enhancement Act (CYFEA). The Court of King's Bench hears adoption cases.

- Hearings are private and adoption records are sealed. There is no access for the public or the media, except with a court order.

Table 37: Procedure – Adoption

Adoption files are sealed. The information on the adoption hearing list is confidential. Court staff do not post the list in any public location.

- Court staff cannot disclose the existence of an adoption file to any member of the public or the media.
- For rules about disclosing adoption information to adopted children, adoptive parents, birth parents and others after the adoption, see CYFEA, Part 2, Division 2, Adoption Information. The Post-Adoption Registry submits the request to the Court.

The Court usually hears adoptions in private; however, the Court may order a public hearing.

CYFEA*, section 68

1. For court staff procedure for distributing an adoption order, see CYFEA, section 74.
2. For court staff procedure when an adoption order is set aside, see CYFEA, section 73.1\(5\).

The judge may order the publication of an adoption judgment. Judgments must not identify the child or members of the birth or adoptive families.

CYFEA*, section 74.1 and section 126.2

4.6 Adoption of Adults

Under the Adult Adoption Act, the Court may order a private hearing.

- That order would be discretionary. For more about discretionary orders, see Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access.
- To learn about accessing information from private hearings see Table 5.

Table 38: Procedure – Adult Adoption Act

An application for an adult adoption may be heard in private.

- For court staff procedure for private hearings, see Table 13 and Table 14.
Adult Adoption Act, section 8

4.7 Child Protection

The Court of Justice hears child protection cases in the first instance. Most child protection cases fall under the Child, Youth and Family Enhancement Act. Some child protection matters may fall under the Protection of Sexually Exploited Children Act, the Drug-Endangered Children Act or the Protection of Children Abusing Drugs Act.

- ➔ Court files are confidential. The public and the media do not have access to information except as directed by a judge.
- ➔ These Acts also impose a ban on publishing information that would identify parents, guardians and children as being involved in child protection proceedings.

a. Access to Court Proceedings

The public and the media can attend most court proceedings in child protection cases.

- ➔ Daily court lists display the courtroom locations for child protection cases in courthouses.
 - Court staff can generally provide the next court date in a child protection case.
 - RCAS Contact Centre staff do not have access to child protection information.
- ➔ The request for the next court date should include:
 - the child's or guardian's full name, and
 - the court location if known.
- ➔ If the full name is not known, the request should include other details such as:
 - the initials of the child or parent, or the docket number,
 - the court location, and

- the last court date.
- ➔ If the next proceeding is a private hearing, court staff can provide the date but must also inform the requester that the hearing is private and members of the public and the media cannot attend.

b. Child, Youth and Family Enhancement Act (CYFEA)

Personal information relating to children and guardians under the CYFEA is confidential.

- ➔ There is no public or media access to court files under this Act.
- ➔ Those involved in a civil action may apply to a judge for disclosure of a record that contains information held under this Act.

Table 39: Procedure – CYFEA Confidential Records

The Act requires that personal information under the Act be kept confidential.

CYFEA, section 126

- ➔ Use the CASES code SBPUB for child protection files. See Table 21.

Court staff can disclose personal information under the Act only to:

- The child’s guardian or the guardian’s lawyer of record.
- The child or the child’s lawyer of record.
- Administrators of child protection legislation in a Canadian jurisdiction.

CYFEA, section 126

- To a person involved in a civil matter under the Act or another act, with a court order for disclosure.

CYFEA, section 126.11

i. Private hearings

The judge may order that all or part of a hearing be held as a private hearing.

- ➔ That order would be discretionary. For more about discretionary orders, see Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access.
- ➔ To learn about accessing information from private hearings see Table 5.

Table 40: Procedure – CYFEA Private Hearings

By its order, the Court can exclude almost anyone, including a child or the child’s guardian, from all or part of the proceedings. The Court cannot exclude a director or a lawyer representing a party.

CYFEA, section 24

1. For court staff procedure on private hearings see Table 12 to Table 16.
2. For orders made in court, enter the order in Part II of the “Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access” form (see Appendix 1).

ii. Medical Records

Proceedings that concern whether a child’s medical records in child protection proceedings may be entered into evidence are often heard in private.

Table 41: Procedure – CYFEA Medical Records

An application regarding the admissibility of medical records, in child protection proceedings, must be heard in private when the records were kept by a hospital board, a mental health board or the Chief Medical Examiner.

CYFEA, section 109

Sealed records

After proceedings concerning medical records:

- The records are sealed.
- That part of the proceeding’s record (including the transcript or written judgment) is not made available to the public, and
- If a party appeals an order made under this section, the Court of King’s Bench must hear the appeal in private.

CYFEA, section 109

Court staff procedure

1. For court staff procedure on private hearings see Table 12 to Table 16.
2. For court staff procedure on sealing see Table 18, Table 19 and Table 20.

iii. Publication Ban

Under the CYFEA, no one may publish the name or photograph of a child or the child’s parent or guardian in a way that reveals that the child is receiving or has received services. The mandatory publication ban does not apply if the child is deceased.

- Certain people may apply to the Court for a publication ban concerning a deceased child (see below).
- Such an order would be discretionary. For more about discretionary orders, see Orders Restricting Publication or Private Access

Table 42: CYFEA Publication Ban

- This provision affects judgments and any other court documents intended for publication.

Anyone who does publish identifying information is liable to a fine of up to $10,000 or up to 6 months' imprisonment in default of payment.

CYFEA, section 126.2(4)

A director or a child over age 16 may publish or consent to the publication of identifying information. Children under age 16, parents, guardians or, with the Court's permission, other interested parties, may apply to the Court for permission to publish identifying information.

CYFEA, section 126.2(2)

Deceased child

The mandatory publication ban does not apply in respect of a deceased child.

CYFEA, sections 126.2(4.1)

- If a child who received intervention services has died, a family member may apply to the Court for an order banning publication of the name or photograph of the child or the child's parent or guardian, or other person identified in the court order.
- "Family member" means the deceased child's parent, guardian, grandparent, sibling, or someone who stands in place of a parent. (A "member of a prescribed class of individuals" may also make an application, but as of March 2022 there is no regulation that describes such a class.)

CYFEA, section 126.3

c. Protection of Sexually Exploited Children Act (PSECA)

The same access restrictions apply under the PSECA as under the CYFEA.

- Members of the public and the media cannot have access to court information. Personal information relating to children and guardians is confidential.

No one may publish the name or photograph of a child or the child’s parent or guardian in a way that reveals that the child is receiving or has received services. If a child has been apprehended for more than two days, the privacy provisions of the CYFEA will apply.

Table 43: Procedure – PSECA Publication Ban

If a director does not return an apprehended child within two days, the child is deemed to have been apprehended under the CYFEA, section 19.

d. Drug-Endangered Children Act (DECA)

The same access restrictions apply under the DECA as under the CYFEA.

- ➔ Members of the public and the media cannot have access to the records.
- ➔ Personal information relating to children and guardians is confidential.

No one may publish a report of a proceeding under the DECA that contains identifying information about the children, or the guardians involved, except with the Court's consent. If a child has been apprehended for more than two days, the privacy provisions of CYFEA will apply.

4.8 Family Violence Matters

a. Protection Against Family Violence Act

The Protection Against Family Violence Act (PAFVA) allows a person to apply for a protection Order. Court staff must keep the claimant’s location confidential unless the claimant consents to disclosing this information.

Table 48: Procedure – PAFVA claimant location

Court staff must keep the claimant’s location confidential, unless the claimant or a person acting on the claimant’s behalf consents to disclosure.

PAFVA, section 8(1)

Although by default, the claimant’s location must be kept confidential, it may be disclosed if mentioned in a court order or disclosed in a transcript of the hearing. This may happen if a judge orders that the respondent be restrained from attending at or entering the residence of the claimant or another family member.

PAFVA, section 8(1.1)

Table 49: Procedure – Charge or conviction information

The emergency protection order application may sometimes include information relating to the respondent that includes charges or convictions under the Youth Criminal Justice Act.

- ➡ If the EPO application includes information about YCJA matters, staff must provide access only as set out in the YCJA. See YCJA Access to records.

The judge may hold all or part of a hearing as a private hearing.

- ➡ That order would be discretionary. For more about discretionary orders, see Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access.

Table 50: Procedure – PAFVA private hearing

By its order, the Court can exclude all or any member of the public from a hearing. The Court cannot exclude the parties.

1. For court staff procedure on private hearings see Table 12 to Table 16.
2. For orders made in court, enter the order in Part II of the “Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access” form (see Appendix 1).

The Court can order a ban on publishing a report of a hearing or of any part of a hearing. Often the order only restricts publishing information about the claimant’s identity.

- ➡ That order would be discretionary. For more about discretionary orders, see Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access.

Table 51: Procedure – PAFVA publication ban

The Court can order a publication ban on all or any part of a proceeding.

5. Traffic and other Provincial Offences – Restrictions on Access

5.1 General

Traffic Court is part of the Court of Justice. It deals with offences (commonly referred to as provincial offences) under many provincial statutes, municipal bylaws, and a few federal statutes. Traffic Court does not deal with charges under federal statutes, including the Criminal Code.

- ➔ For general access procedures, see Access Requests.
- ➔ Access to young persons' cases under the Provincial Offences Procedures Act is more limited than for adult cases. See part 6.3 of this Guide.

6. Youth Justice Matters – Restrictions on Access

6.1 General

Any level of court, Court of Justice, Court of King's Bench or Court of Appeal, can hear youth justice cases, but most often the Court of Justice hears them. Members of the public and the media do not have access to youth court information except as directed by a judge. There is a mandatory publication ban on identifying a young person as an accused or as a victim in youth justice matters.

- The young person and the lawyer of record are entitled to free copies of some records. See Table 64.
- For general access procedures, see Access Requests.

6.2 Access to court proceedings

Generally, the public and the media can attend court proceedings in youth cases.

- In courthouses, court staff post daily lists providing the courtroom locations for youth cases, and court staff can provide the date and the courthouse for the next court appearance.
- The request for the next court date should include the young person's full name if known.
- If the full name is not known, the request should, if possible, include other details such as:
 - the young person's initials or the docket number,
 - the court location, or
 - the last court date.
- If the next proceeding is a private hearing, court staff can provide the date, but must also inform the requester that the hearing is private and members of the public and the media cannot attend.

Table 52: Youth identification in court records

Court staff may use identifying information in court records, including the docket system and docket lists. Written judgments are released for publication but must not contain identifying information.

6.3 Youth Justice Act (Alberta)

This Provincial Act applies to provincial offences when the person charged with the offence is a young person. (For federal offences, see the section on the Youth Criminal Justice Act below.)

- ➔ Court information under this Act is generally not available to members of the public or the media.
- ➔ For matters under the Youth Justice Act, no one may publish information that could identify a young person:
 - who is an accused, a witness or a victim,
 - in connection with an offence, alleged offence or a court proceeding under the Act.
- ➔ Court staff can provide the court location and next appearance date. For traffic offences, users can search by ticket number to see the ticket information online. See Information Requests.
- ➔ The form to apply for youth information, the Application for Release of Young Offender Data form, is available online or from the court clerk. Court staff will transmit the completed form to the Minister's designated agent to request written authorization to release information.
- ➔ After the proceedings have ended, and after the term of any sentence imposed, records are available only to the Minister and anyone authorized in writing by the Minister. Court staff may share identifying information to assist with justice administration if the intention is not to make the information known to the public.

A youth court judge may make an order to permit publishing information that could identify the child or the young person, if the child or the young person applies, and the justice is satisfied that publication would not be contrary to the best interests of the child or the young person.

Table 53: Procedure – Access to Youth Justice Act records

- ➔ To access Youth Justice Act records, requesters must complete a form: Application for Release of Young Offender Data.
- ➔ Court staff will forward the completed form to the Minister’s designated agent.

The Court must keep youth records separate from records of proceedings in adult court. During the proceedings and the sentence, only the following people can access the court information:

- the counsel or the parent of the young person,
- the provincial director appointed under the Youth Criminal Justice Act,
- a judge who hears the appeal on the proceeding, or
- the Alberta Minister of Justice, the Minister’s agent, or anyone with the Minister’s written authorization (a “Ministerial Order”).

Youth Justice Act (Alberta)*, section 33(3)

- ➔ Some court locations do not have separate file storage for youth records; that is permissible providing that the records are marked as being youth records and access is controlled as the law requires.

After the proceedings are completed, only the Minister or someone with the Minister’s written authorization (“Ministerial Order”) can see the court information.

Youth Justice Act (Alberta)*, section 33(4)

6.4 Youth Criminal Justice Act (YCJA)

The YCJA applies to federal offences when the person charged with an offence is a young person.

Table 54: Criminal Code bans in youth justice matters

In addition to bans on publishing information that would identify a young person in connection with proceedings under the YCJA, bans under the Criminal Code may apply in youth proceedings. For those bans, see the section on Criminal Matters.

A. Identity not to be published; exceptions

Generally, no one may publish the name of a young person or other information if it would identify them as being dealt with under the YCJA, whether as an accused, victim or witness. However, there are some exceptions to this rule.

- ➔ The table below describes the exceptions that allow publication of a young person's name or identifying information.

Table 55: When young person's identity may be published

Offence or circumstances	Identifiable?	YCJA section
Young person receives an adult sentence	Yes	110(2)(a)
Young person is at large and police have applied for publication of identity	Yes, if ordered by a judge; maximum 5 days	110(4), (5)

Young person is under 18 and applies to the Court for permission to publish	Yes, with court order	110(6)

The table below describes the exceptions allowing publication of a young victim's or witness's name or identifying information.

Table 56: When young victim's or witness' identity may be published

Private hearing

The judge may order a private hearing for all or part of a proceeding.

- ➡ That order would be discretionary. For more about discretionary orders, see Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access.

Table 57: Procedure – Private hearing under YCJA

The Court may order a private hearing on the grounds set out in the Act.

YCJA, section 132

1. For court staff procedure on private hearings see Table 12 to Table 16.
2. For orders made in court, enter the order in Part II of the “Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access” form (see Appendix 1).

Access to records

There is no access to records under the YCJA, except as specifically authorized or required by the Act: section 118\(1\). People employed in keeping or maintaining the records can have access to them: section 118\(2\).

- ➡ It is an offence to permit access except as authorized under the Act: section 138\(1\).

i. Public and media access

Court information under the YCJA is generally not available to members of the public or the media, except as directed by a youth court judge. In cases that are currently before the Court, staff can provide the date and the courthouse location for the next court appearance. See Access to Court Proceedings.

Table 58: Procedure – Public and media access to YCJA records

The young person and the lawyer of record are entitled to free copies of some records. See Table 64.

Court staff must forward access requests received from members of the public or the media to a youth court judge, usually the Assistant Chief Justice or designate.

The judge will decide whether the person making the request can have access to the youth court information or a copy of any part of a youth court record. The judge may direct that the requester make a formal court application for access to the records, with notice to the Crown and the young person.

YCJA, sections 119(1)(s), 123(1)(b)

Access to records under the YCJA is strictly limited. The Act says that the criminal justice system for young persons must be separate from that for adults. The records system need not be physically separate, but access and use of the records must comply with the Act. See YCJA, sections 3(1)(b), 114-120, 123-127.

The YCJA requires “enhanced procedural protection to ensure that young persons are treated fairly and that their rights, including their right to privacy, are protected”: section 3(1)(b)(iii) [emphasis added]. There are limits on both who can access records and on the time during which the records are accessible. This time constraint does not apply to the young person and their counsel. They can have access at any time: section 124.

- ➔ See Table 60: Persons permitted to access youth records.
- ➔ Records are available to members of the public or the media only as directed by a youth court judge; see item (s) in Table 61.

ii. Adult criminal records relating to YCJA proceedings

Restricted access does not apply to the records of young persons who received an adult sentence. The Criminal Records Act applies to those records, and court staff can release them to anyone who is entitled to them under the Criminal Code.

Table 59: Adult criminal records under YCJA

The rules for accessing adult criminal records will apply if:

1. The young person received an adult sentence, and the appeal period has elapsed, or
2. The Court of Appeal heard the appeal and confirmed the adult sentence.

For such records, see Criminal Matters (Part 7 of this Guide).

YCJA, section 117

In JOIN, the event code is ASI (Adult Sentence Imposed). The record must continue to be treated as a youth record if:

1. The appeal period has not elapsed, or

2. After hearing the appeal, the Court of Appeal struck down the adult sentence.

If the Court of Appeal upholds the adult sentence, that Court's staff will send the information to the trial court for that Court's staff to update the JOIN record.

The youth record is also treated as an adult record if the youth committed offences as an adult during the access period for youth offences. See Table 62 and Table 63.

iii. Persons with access to youth records

The following categories of persons have access to youth records, but only during the access period (see Time limits on access to youth records). After the access period, only a youth court judge can permit access: YCJA, section 123.

It is an offence to permit access except as authorized under the Act: section 138\(1\).

- A person who is permitted to access youth records can have any information contained in the record and can have a copy of any record: YCJA, section 122.
- Access to certain records is more limited. See Table 60: Sentencing materials in YCJA proceedings.

Table 60: Persons permitted to access youth records

During the access period, records can be disclosed to people listed in YCJA, section 119\(1\):

- (a) The young person
- (b) The young person's lawyer or the lawyer's representative
- (c) The Attorney General
- (d) The victim of the offence or alleged offence
- (e) The young person's parents or guardians during the proceedings and term of any sentence
- (f) An adult whom the court permits to assist the young person during the proceedings and sentence
- (g) A peace officer, for law enforcement purposes, or during the term of the youth sentence
- (h) A judge, court or review board

- (i) The provincial director or the director of the correctional facility or penitentiary where the young person is serving a sentence
- (j) Anyone participating in a conference or extrajudicial measures program
- (k) An ombudsman, or a privacy or information commissioner investigating a complaint to which the record relates
- (l) A coroner or a child advocate appointed by the legislature or parliament
- (m) A person acting under the Firearms Act
- (n) A member of a department or agency of a Canadian government, or an organization under contract, in relation to duties relating to the young person or the Act
- (o) A person carrying out a criminal record check for a government in Canada
- (p) An agent or employee of the Government of Canada for statistical purposes
- (q) An accused or counsel, with an affidavit swearing that access to the record is necessary for a full answer and defence
- (r) Anyone, by order in counsel of the Governor General or lieutenant governor
- (s) Other people can have access if permitted by a youth court judge. The judge must be satisfied that access to the record is:
 - (i) in the public interest for research or statistical purposes, or
 - (ii) in the interest of the proper administration of justice.

iv. Reports related to sentencing

Specific access restrictions may apply to these records.

Table 61: Sentencing materials in YCJA proceedings

Staff must check with the Family & Youth Assistant Chief Justice or the presiding judge before providing access to YCJA sentencing materials.

Medical or psychological report

- Only the following people can have access to a medical or psychological report (a “section 34 report”) or a forensic DNA analysis:
 1. the young person
 2. the young person’s lawyer
 3. the Attorney General
 4. the young person’s parents

5. an adult assisting the young person
6. a peace officer
7. a judge, court, or review board
8. an accused or accused's counsel who swear that access is necessary to make a full answer and defence
9. with a judge's order, anyone whose access is desirable in the interest of the proper administration of justice

YCJA, section 119(6)

Access to these reports may be further limited

- Despite section 119(6), if the Court believes that withholding the report would endanger anyone, the Court may direct that a copy of the report be given to the provincial director or to the director of a facility where the youth is serving a sentence: YCJA, section 34(7)(b)(ii)
- A youth court must withhold all or part of section 34 report from a private prosecutor, if the Court believes that disclosure of the report or part is not necessary for prosecuting the case and might be prejudicial to the young person: YCJA, section 34(9)
- A youth court must withhold all or part of a section 34 report from the young person, the young person's parents or a private prosecutor if the Court believes that disclosing all or part of the report would seriously impair the treatment or recovery of the young person, or would be likely to endanger the life or safety of another person or result in serious psychological harm to them: YCJA, section 34(10).

Child welfare assessment

At any stage of the proceedings, a youth court may refer a young person to a child welfare agency for assessment to decide if the young person needs child welfare services: YCJA, section 35.

Pre-sentence report

The Court may withhold a pre-sentence report from a private prosecutor if the Court believes disclosure would be prejudicial to the young person and not necessary for prosecuting the charge; if the pre-sentence report is submitted orally in court, the Court may exclude the private prosecutor from the courtroom: YCJA, section 40(7).

Progress report

When a young person is in custody, the director of the facility must bring the young person to court at the end of each year of custody. The Court may decide to review the sentence, and if it does review the sentence, must ask the provincial director to submit a progress report on the young person's performance during the youth sentence. The Court may withhold the report from a private prosecutor on the same grounds as in section 40(7): YCJA, sections 94\(9\), \(12\).

Application for continuation of custody

The Attorney General or the provincial director may apply to the Court for an order that the youth person serve more of their sentence in custody, rather than receiving probation. The Court must ask the provincial director to submit a progress report on the young person's performance during the youth sentence.

The Court may withhold the report from a private prosecutor on the same grounds as in section 40(7): YCJA, sections 99\(1\), \(3\).

v. Access period - time limits on access to youth records

The “access period” is the limited time during which access to youth records is available as permitted by the YCJA (see Table 62 below), unless the records can be treated as adult records. See “Adult criminal records relating to YCJA proceedings” and “When access periods do not apply”.

- After the access period, there is no access, except with a court order. It is an offence to provide access or disclose the records to anyone, except with a court order: YCJA, section 138\(1\).
- If it is difficult to determine the access period, staff will consult the Assistant Chief Justice or designate.
- Access periods do not apply to young persons and their counsel. They can have access at any time: see the YCJA, section 124.

Table 62: Access periods for YCJA records

Disposition	Access Period	After Access Period

When access periods do not apply

If a person is convicted of an offence after becoming an adult, but during the access period for a summary or indictable youth offence, then the access provisions for the accessible youth offences no longer apply. The youth record is treated like an adult record. See the section on Criminal Matters in this Guide.

Table 63: Adult offences during the access period

Following a conviction for an offence as an adult committed during the access period for a summary or indictable offence, the record for the accessible offence or offences is dealt with as an adult record. Section 82 (effect of absolute discharge or termination of sentence) does not apply. The record will be accessible under the Criminal Records Act.

YCJA, section 119\(9\)

7. Criminal Matters – Restrictions on Access

For general access procedures, see Information Requests.

- Generally, court information from adult criminal cases is available to the public and the media after the accused has been arrested or has received a summons. At that point, the accused knows of the charge they are facing.
 - Court staff can release information about an accused after the first court appearance on the charges.
 - Staff cannot disclose records concerning a matter for which there is an outstanding warrant in the first instance.
- Specific procedures apply to reports and other exhibits in criminal matters. See section 8.4.

In the trial courts, court staff can provide the Ticket Detail Inquiry or Charge Detail Inquiry from the Court's docket system \(JOIN\) to an accused or accused's counsel. Staff must redact security information such as user IDs before providing a copy of a JOIN record.

Table 64: Information and endorsements for accused and counsel

On active files, an accused and counsel are each entitled to one free copy of the Information or Indictment, the accused's own statement and the court endorsements.

Criminal Code, section 603

The Crown discloses most of the documents and information to the accused or the accused's counsel.

- On active files, an accused and the accused's counsel are each entitled to:
 1. In Court of Justice, one free copy of the Information, the endorsements sheets, and if used, the clerk's notes.
 2. In the Court of King's Bench, one free copy of the Indictment and the clerk's notes.
- For investigative searches, the accused and the accused's counsel are each entitled to one free copy of the Information to Obtain a Search Warrant, Warrant to Search, Report to a Justice and Telewarrant. Other documents are available on payment of the applicable fee.

To learn about access to exhibits in criminal law cases, see the section on Exhibits.

7.1 Warrants

A warrant is a court order that authorizes a specific act, such as an arrest or a search of a place. Both the Court of Justice and the Court of King's Bench can issue most types of warrants. However, only the Court of King's Bench can issue wiretap warrants.

A. Types of warrants

The Criminal Code provides for several types of warrants. The following is a list of the most common types.

Table 65: Types of Warrants

Type of Warrant	What the warrant gives legal authority for
Arrest warrant	To take a person into custody and deprive them of liberty: Criminal Code , section 511 <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Staff cannot disclose records concerning a matter for which there is an outstanding warrant for arrest in the first instance (JOIN event code WPI)
Blood sample warrant	To draw blood for various driving offences to detect drugs or alcohol: Criminal Code , section 320.29
Controlled Drugs and Substances Act warrant	To search a building, place or receptacle for controlled substances: Controlled Drugs and Substances Act , section 11
DNA warrant	To obtain DNA samples from suspects for comparison to samples seized during an investigation: Criminal Code , section 487.05
Feeney warrant	To enter a dwelling or other place to apprehend a fugitive or suspect: Criminal Code , section 529
General warrant	To use any device or investigative technique or do anything described in the warrant: Criminal Code , section 487.02
Search warrant	To search a building, place or receptacle: Criminal Code , section 487

Type of Warrant	What the warrant gives legal authority for
Tracking warrant	To place a device in or on anything (often a vehicle) to track it during an investigation: Criminal Code , section 492.1
Transmission data recorder warrant	To install a device to record transmission data relating to the data generated by transmitting a telecommunication, but not including the content or meaning of the communication: Criminal Code , section 492.2
Wiretap warrant	To intercept communications on a phone or in a residence or vehicle: Criminal Code , section 186

i. Informations and warrants for arrest

An Information is the court document that starts the prosecution of most offences. It is a statement in writing and under oath that someone has committed an offence. In law, any person may appear before a judge or hearing officer to lay a private Information, but in practice they are usually laid by police officers. Based on the Information, a judge may issue either a summons or a warrant for the accused's arrest.

Informations are accessible after the accused has been arrested or has received a summons. Arrest warrants are filed with the Information in the court file.

When there is an Indictment, it is accessible in the same manner as an Information in the court file.

Search warrants

A search warrant is a court order that directs owners of private property to allow the police to enter and search for items named in the warrant. Applications to obtain a search warrant are heard in private.

Search warrants are accessible to members of the public and the media if:

- The warrant was not sealed by a court order,
- The warrant was executed, and
- The police officer has filed a written "Report to a Justice."

Members of the public and the media can then access the report, the warrant and the “Information to Obtain” the warrant, unless a sealing order prevents access.

Table 66: Procedure – Warrants

Unsuccessful applications

Court staff will return all documents connected with unsuccessful applications to the applicant with express instructions that on reapplication, the applicant must advise the next judge or justice of the peace of the failed application.

Unexecuted warrants

Court staff cannot confirm the existence of an unexecuted warrant. There must be a written Report to a Justice on the court file. Without this confirmation, staff can only confirm whether they would be able to provide access to a warrant of that type, if one existed, and if it had been executed.

Executed Warrants

Executed warrants are accessible by the public and the media unless sealed.

A judge may make an order sealing a warrant and all documents relating to the application for the warrant.

- That order would be discretionary. For more about discretionary orders, see Orders Restricting Publication or Private Access.
- Unless specifically ordered by the judge, the sealing order itself is not sealed.

Sealing orders may be limited:

- in duration. They may expire on a certain date or a certain number of days after the warrant was executed, or
- by any limitation on the complete sealing of the “Information to Obtain” the warrant (examples include the use of pseudonyms for confidential informants and sealing only certain parts of a document).

Table 67: Sealing Order for a Warrant or other Authorization

The application and reasons for a sealing order are set out in the Criminal Code, section 487.3.

Wiretap warrants (interception of private communications)

Wiretap warrants allow police to place a listening device on a person's phone or in a residence or vehicle.

All documents relating to an application to intercept communications are confidential. They are sealed in a packet immediately after the judge has made a decision on the application.

Table 68: Procedure – Wiretap warrants

When the application is made by telephone or fax, the facsimile of the authorization remains with the applicant.

Criminal Code, section 184.3

The packet cannot be opened:

- Unless the agent is before a Court of King's Bench Justice with an application for renewal, or
- With a Court of King's Bench order.

Criminal Code, section 187

All wiretap and electronic surveillance matters are confidential. Court staff will provide information to a Crown Prosecutor only, on presentation of the proper control number. Only staff with specific authorizations can handle these applications. Those staff must not disclose the applications to other staff.

7.2 Private hearings

The Court usually hears proceedings against an accused in open court. Sometimes the law or a court order requires a private hearing for particular kinds of applications.

- ➔ Such a court order would be discretionary. For more about discretionary orders, see Orders Restricting Publication or Private Access.

Table 69: Reference – Required and discretionary private hearings in criminal matters

Proceedings that must be heard in private

Criminal Code, sections 507, 507.1

Proceedings that may be heard in private, at the judge’s discretion

For more about discretionary orders, see Orders Restricting Access or Publication.

- In any proceeding, a judge may order a private hearing (exclude any or all members of the public) on the grounds set out in this section.
Criminal Code, section 486
- A judicial interim release hearing.
Criminal Code, section 517
- A preliminary inquiry.
Criminal Code, section 537(1)(h)

Table 70: Procedure – Private hearing in criminal matter

For court staff procedure on private hearings see Table 12 to Table 16.

For orders made in court, note the order on the “Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access” form (see Appendix 1).

A. Process hearing

A judge or justice of the peace who receives an Information must hear the allegations and witnesses in a private hearing. The judge or justice may agree that there is a sufficient basis for the charge. If the accused is not already in custody, the judge or justice may “issue process”: issue a summons or a warrant for arrest, or simply confirm an appearance notice that was already served on the accused.

- ➔ To request records from a process hearing, any member of the public or the media may use the form Request for Exhibit or Private Hearing Record.

Table 71: Procedure – Process hearing

The procedure for process hearings is set out in the Criminal Code, section 507.

- For the Digital Display System (DDS) see Table 12.
- For court staff procedure on private hearings see Table 12 to Table 16.

Private prosecution

A private prosecution is one where a judge or justice of the peace receives an Information brought by a private citizen or a private organization. The Court hears this initial complaint in a private hearing. If the judge or justice does not issue process, the private prosecutor may begin proceedings to compel the judge or justice to issue process. Unless the private prosecutor does commence proceedings within six months, or if process does not issue within six months after that proceeding, then the law treats the Information as never having been laid.

- ➔ To request records from a process hearing in a private prosecution, any member of the public or the media may use the form Request for Exhibit or Private Hearing Record.
- ➔ A youth court judge may withhold materials on sentencing in youth justice cases from a private prosecutor. See Reports related to sentencing.

Table 72: Reference – Private prosecutions

The procedure for process hearings in private prosecutions is set out in the Criminal Code, section 507.1.

- For court staff procedure on private hearings see Table 12 to Table 16.

Production orders

A judge may order a person to produce a document, or to prepare and produce a document from data under the person's care and control, and to provide the record or records to the person authorised in the order. This order is called a Production Order. The Court hears applications for Production Orders in private. The documents produced are not available to the public or the media unless they are later marked as exhibits. For records that become exhibits, see the section on Exhibits.

The Information to Obtain (ITO) is a document containing the information that an investigating officer provides to a judge when applying for a Production Order.

- ➔ The ITO is available after the officer files the Report to a Justice that reports on the outcome of serving the Production Order.

Table 73: Procedure – Production Order Applications

The Information to Obtain must not be released to the public or the media unless the Report to a Justice has been filed.

- For court staff procedure on private hearings see Table 12 to Table 16.

An application to determine whether solicitor-client privilege applies to a document must be heard in private.

Criminal Code, section 488.1(10)

A Report to a Justice is required after property has been seized by a peace officer or by anyone authorized by a federal statute.

Criminal Code, section 489.1

i. Claim of privilege

A claim of privilege is a claim that a party does not need to provide a document to the other party. The Court must hold a private hearing to decide a claim of privilege for a document in the possession of a lawyer.

- ➔ To learn about accessing information from private hearings see Table 5.

Table 74: Procedure – Claim of privilege

For court staff procedure on private hearings see Table 12 to Table 16.

An application to determine a claim of privilege for a document held by a lawyer must be heard in private.

Criminal Code, section 488.1

ii. Personal information records

When the application for a Production Order concerns a personal information record of a complainant in a sexual assault matter, no one may publish information about the application, the hearing or the judge's decision, unless the judge orders that the decision may be published. The Court must hear the application in private.

To learn about accessing information from private hearings see Table 5.

Criminal Code, section 278.9

Accused in possession of records relating to complainant

When an accused has records relating to a sexual assault complainant and seeks to admit them into evidence, the proceedings relating to admissibility are held in private. The contents of the application, any evidence taken, the information given, and the representations made during the admissibility proceedings are subject to a publication ban. The judge's decision will not be published unless the judge decides that the evidence is admissible, or the judge makes an order permitting publication.

Table 76: Procedure – Records relating to complainant

- For court staff procedure on private hearings see Table 12 to Table 16.
- For court staff procedure on publication bans see Table 10.

Except in accordance with this section, no record in the possession or control of the accused relating to a complainant can be admitted into evidence.

Criminal Code, section 278.92

An application for a judge to order a hearing to determine admissibility must be heard in private.

Criminal Code, section 278.93

The hearing on admissibility must be heard in private.

Criminal Code, section 278.94

The contents of the application, the evidence taken, the information given and the representations made at an application under section 278.93 or at a hearing under section 278.94 are subject to a publication ban. Unless the judge finds the records to be admissible or orders that the decision can be published, there is a ban on publishing the judge's decision.

Criminal Code, section 278.95

Admissibility of evidence of complainant's sexual activity

When an accused asks the Court to permit admissibility of evidence of the complainant's sexual activity, the proceedings relating to admissibility are held in private. The contents of the application, any evidence taken, the information given, and the representations made during the admissibility proceedings are subject to a publication ban. Criminal Code, section 278.95

7.3 Judicial interim release (Bail)

Members of the public and the media can attend bail and bail review hearings, and the court information is accessible. However, a judge may order a ban on publishing information about the hearing.

- If the accused asks for the ban, the judge must order it; the ban is mandatory. If the prosecutor asks for the ban, the order is discretionary. For more about discretionary orders, see Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access.
- This is a temporary ban: it continues in effect until the accused is discharged or, if ordered to stand trial, until the end of the accused's trial. It does not matter whether the trial is heard in the Court of Justice or the Court of King's Bench, the ban remains in place until the trial ends.
- The publication ban does not apply to appeals from conviction or sentence. However, it would apply to an application for judicial review of a bail decision brought to the Court of Appeal pursuant to section 680 of the Criminal Code.
- To request reports and other exhibits from bail and bail review hearings, see Exhibits.

Table 78: Procedure – Publication Ban on Judicial Interim Release

The judge must order a publication ban if the accused applies and may do so if the prosecutor applies.

Criminal Code, section 517

1. For court staff procedure on publication bans see Table 10.
2. A ban ordered by the Court of Appeal on a bail appeal is a common-law order and court staff should note the ban in Part III of the on the “Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access” form (see Appendix 1).

7.4 Preliminary inquiry

Members of the public and the media can usually attend preliminary inquiries. Usually these court records are accessible. There is a statutory ban on publishing information about an admission or confession made during a preliminary inquiry. A judge may also order a ban on publishing information about evidence taken during the preliminary inquiry.

- Both the statutory ban and the court-ordered ban are temporary: they continue in effect until the accused is discharged or, if ordered to stand trial, until the end of the accused’s trial.
- Usually the trial ends in the Court of King’s Bench. The ban on publishing information about the preliminary inquiry will apply there as well, until that trial ends.

The judge may order a private hearing for the preliminary inquiry.

- That order would be discretionary. For more about discretionary orders, see Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access.

Table 79: Procedure – Preliminary Inquiry

The judge must order a publication ban if the accused applies and may do so if the prosecutor applies.

- For court staff procedure on publication bans see Table 10.

Criminal Code, section 539

There is a mandatory ban on publishing a report of an admission or confession in a preliminary inquiry.

Criminal Code, section 542(2)

The judge may order a private hearing for the preliminary inquiry.

- For court staff procedure on private hearings see Table 12 to Table 16.
Criminal Code, section 537(1)(h).

7.5 Jury trials and jurors

Proceedings to empanel (select) a jury are open to the public and the media. The Court may order a ban on publishing the names or identifying information of jurors. To protect juror anonymity in court, the Clerk of the Court will call prospective jurors by their assigned juror numbers and not by their names.

- ➡ An order to ban publishing the identity of jurors is discretionary.
For more about discretionary orders, see Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access.

There is a statutory ban on publishing information about any part of the trial at which the jury is not present (a “voir dire”) until the jury retires to consider its verdict.

Table 80: Procedure – Jury trials

- For court staff procedure on publication bans see Table 10.

The judge may order the clerk to call out both the names and numbers on juror cards.
Criminal Code, section 631(3.1)

The judge may order a publication ban on the name and identifying information of a juror.

Criminal Code, section 631(6)

There is a statutory ban on publishing information heard during the jury’s absence, until the jury retires to consider its verdict.

Criminal Code, section 648

7.6 Identity protection

A. Non-disclosure of witness’ identity

In any proceedings against an accused, the judge may order that any information that could identify a witness not be disclosed during the proceedings. The judge may hold a hearing to determine whether to make the order and may hold the hearing in private.

- ➔ Those orders would be discretionary. For more about discretionary orders, see Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access.

Table 81: Procedure – Non-disclosure of witness’ identity

The judge may make an order that information that could identify a witness not be disclosed during the proceedings. The judge may hold a private hearing to determine whether to make the order.

Criminal Code, section 486.31

1. For court staff procedure on private hearings see Table 12 to Table 16.
2. For court staff procedure on non-disclosure of identity/pseudonym orders, see Table 22.
3. The clerk must review the file before providing access and must remove any documents that could disclose the witness’ identity. If necessary, consult the judge who made the order.

Ban on publishing name or identifying information

The judge may order a ban on publishing the name or identifying information of a victim, witness or justice system participant.

- ➔ Publication bans do not affect access to the file by the public and the media.
- ➔ It is an offence to publish the information in any document or broadcast or transmit it in any way.

In proceedings concerning sexual offences, the judge must inform a victim or a witness who is under age 18 of the right to apply for a publication ban. The judge must make the publication ban order if the victim, witness, or prosecutor applies for it.

In proceedings concerning any offence, if the victim is under age 18, the judge must inform the victim of the right to apply for an order banning publication of a witness’s identity and must make the order if the victim, witness, or prosecutor applies for it.

- ➔ The above orders are mandatory if the protected person or the prosecutor applies for an order.

In any proceedings, the judge may make an order banning publication of the identity of a victim or witness (who is not under 18). The judge may also make this order to protect justice system participants in proceedings concerning criminal organizations, terrorism or the Security of Information Act. The judge may order a private hearing for the publication ban application.

- ➡ The above orders are discretionary. For more about discretionary orders, see Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access.

In proceedings concerning child pornography, the judge must always make the order banning publication of the victim's identity.

Table 82: Procedure – Identification bans

A judge may, or in some circumstances, must, order a ban on publishing information that could identify a victim, witness, or justice system participant.

Criminal Code, sections 486.4, 486.5

For court staff procedure on publication bans see Table 10.

7.7 Order to protect security of witness

In any proceedings against an accused, the judge may make any order necessary to protect the security of a witness.

- ➡ That order would be discretionary. For more about discretionary orders, see Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access.

Table 83: Procedure – Order for security of witness

In any proceedings against an accused, the judge may make any order, other than one that the Court could order under any of sections 486 to 486.5 of the Criminal Code, if the judge is of the opinion that the order is necessary to protect the security of any witness and is otherwise in the interest of the proper administration of justice.

Criminal Code, section 486.7

Court staff must note the order on the “Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access” form (see Appendix 1), and in JOIN. See Table 10.

7.8 Non-conviction records

Non-conviction records include records of charges that have been stayed, withdrawn, or dismissed, or the accused has been acquitted, as well as peace bonds and weapons prohibitions.

A. Stay of proceedings

A stay of proceedings is a suspension of court proceedings without a finding of guilt or innocence.

i. Stay by Crown

In any criminal matter, the Crown may stay the proceedings for one or more charges at any time before the Court gives its judgment. The Crown stays proceedings by directing the Clerk of the Court to enter the stay in the record. The Crown may restart the proceedings by giving notice to the Clerk of the Court. The Crown must give notice within six months after the date of the alleged offence for summary matters or within one year after the stay for indictable matters. After that time, the Crown cannot prosecute the case on the original Information or Indictment.

- If the Court had ordered a publication ban on judicial interim release or preliminary inquiry proceedings in the case (see sections 7.3 and 7.4), those bans will end when the Crown's time to recommence the proceedings has passed.

Table 84: Procedure – Stay of proceedings by Crown

The JOIN event code for a stay by the Crown is STY.

In JOIN, the charge detail screen shows the date of the stay (event code STY). From the charge detail screen, press F4 to see the file detail screen, which shows the offence date (code OFF DATE).

- If the Crown's time to recommence proceedings has passed, this ends interim bans such as the judicial interim release ban (see section 7.3) and preliminary inquiry ban (see section 7.4).

After the end of the permitted time to recommence the proceedings, they are deemed never to have been commenced.

Criminal Code, section 579\(2\)

Summary proceedings may be instituted no more than six months after the time the subject-matter of the proceedings arose unless the prosecutor and defendant agree.

Criminal Code, section 786\(2\)

Stay by the Court

The Court can stay criminal proceedings if putting a person on trial would amount to an abuse of process and would violate the principles of fundamental justice. A judicial stay of proceedings prevents the Court from ever ruling on the accused's guilt or innocence. The order is final unless the stay is reversed by a court on appeal of the decision.

Table 85: Procedure – Judicial Stay

The JOIN event code for a judicial stay is STJ. Unlike Crown stays, this acts as an end to the case with no possibility of recommencing, unless the stay is struck down on appeal.

Anyone whose rights or freedoms, as guaranteed by the Charter, have been infringed or denied may apply to a court of competent jurisdiction to obtain such remedy as the Court considers appropriate and just in the circumstances.

Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms, section 24(1)

Withdrawn charges

Crown counsel can withdraw charges or an Information at any time before the accused enters a plea or an Indictment is preferred. After that time, the Crown can only withdraw the charge or Information with the Court's permission. The Crown will bring the charge before the Court for a withdrawal on the record. When an Information is withdrawn, all the related arrest warrants, recognizances or detention orders are vacated: they no longer have any legal effect.

Table 86: Procedure – Withdrawn charges

The JOIN codes are:

1. WDN (Withdrawn)
2. WDB (Withdrawn Before First Appearance Date)
3. WHD (Withdrawn Mental Health Diversion) – withdrawn after successful completion of mental health diversion.
4. WPT (Withdrawn – Process Transferred) – case has not ended but has been transferred to another court.

Discharge after Preliminary Inquiry

Preliminary Inquiries are held in the Court of Justice. At the end of a preliminary inquiry, the judge will either discharge the accused or order the accused to stand trial.

- ➔ Discharge the accused, if the judge finds there is not enough evidence to put the accused on trial. A discharge:

- Brings the case to an end.
 - Ends a preliminary inquiry publication ban, if one had been ordered under the Criminal Code, section 539.
 - Ends a judicial interim release (bail) publication ban, if one had been ordered under the Criminal Code, section 517.
 - Does not end other bans.
- ➔ Order the accused to stand trial, if the judge finds there is enough evidence. The case will then be transferred to the Court of King's Bench.
- The following publication bans continue in the Court of King's Bench, if they were ordered in the Court of Justice:
 - Preliminary inquiry ban under the Criminal Code, section 539. This ban applies to any publication of the evidence from the preliminary inquiry. The ban expires at the end of the trial.
 - Judicial interim release (bail) ban under the Criminal Code, section 517. This ban applies to any publication of the evidence, information, representations of counsel and reasons of the judge or justice of the peace from the judicial interim release proceeding. The ban expires at the end of the trial.
 - Any other ban ordered in the Court of Justice, including identification bans under the Criminal Code, sections 486.31, 486.4, or 486.5.

Table 87: Procedure – Discharge and order to stand trial

When the judge in a preliminary inquiry has taken all the evidence, the judge must order the accused to stand trial or must discharge the accused.

Criminal Code, section 548

The JOIN event codes are:

1. OST (Ordered to Stand Trial)
2. ODC (Order for Discharge)

Note: In the Court of King’s Bench JOIN record, the notation “Indictment not confirmed” does not mean the record is not publicly accessible. It simply means the Indictment is not yet in the court file.

Dismissal of proceedings

The Court may dismiss a charge for “want of prosecution” at any time before the trial begins. An accused can ask the Court to dismiss charges. The Court may order a case dismissed if the case cannot proceed further:

- When the Crown is not prepared to proceed, but the Court refuses to adjourn the case to a later date,
- When the Crown elects to offer no evidence, and
- When the Crown did not attend court, or for another reason cannot move the prosecution forward.

The dismissed charge can be re-started with a new Information or direct Indictment only if the Attorney General or Deputy Attorney General consents in writing.

Table 88: Reference – Dismissal of proceedings

Following the proceedings, the Court must either convict the defendant, discharge the defendant under the Criminal Code, section 730 (see Absolute and Conditional Discharges), make an order against the defendant or dismiss the Information.

Criminal Code, section 804

The JOIN event codes are:

1. DIB (Dismissed Before First Appearance Date)
2. DIS (Discharged)

Acquittal on a charge

If the Court finds that the Crown did not prove its case on the required burden of proof beyond a reasonable doubt, the Court must acquit the accused.

Table 89: Reference – Acquittal

Where the accused is tried and found not guilty of an offence, the Court must immediately acquit the accused of that offence and must cause an Order Acquitting Accused (Form 37) to be drawn up, and on request must make out and deliver to the accused a certified copy of the Order.

Criminal Code, section 570(2)

Upon the Court's adjudication or on request from the accused, the clerk will prepare an Order Acquitting Accused (Form 37). This form is signed by the judge, justice of the peace or court staff who have been designated by the judge. Upon request, a certified copy of the Order Acquitting Accused is issued to the accused. The original Order is placed on the court file.

The JOIN event code is:

1. ACQ (Acquittal)

Peace bond

A peace bond is a court order intended to keep one person from harming another. It is a recognizance, with or without a cash deposit, requiring the defendant to “keep the peace and be of good behaviour.” A peace bond lasts for up to 12 months. It may include other conditions such as requiring the defendant:

- to abstain from consuming alcohol and non-prescribed drugs,
- to attend counselling,
- to not contact or communicate with a certain person, or
- to not possess any weapons or ammunition.

The defendant must abide by all the terms and conditions of the peace bond. If a peace officer or probation officer charges the accused with breach of the peace bond, the defendant owes to the government the money promised. If the Court convicts the defendant of the breach, the conviction results in a criminal record.

Table 90: Reference – Peace Bonds

Peace Bonds may be ordered at common law.

Criminal Code* peace bonds

Procedure and conditions for basic peace bonds are set out in section 810 of the Criminal Code.

Criminal Code*, section 810

Fear of certain offences (section 423.1, intimidate a justice system participant or a journalist; or a criminal organization offence).

Criminal Code*, section 810.01

Fear of terrorism offence.

Criminal Code*, section 810.011

Fear of forced marriage or marriage under the age of 16 years.

Criminal Code*, section 810.02

Fear of sexual offence.

Criminal Code*, section 810.1

Fear of serious personal injury offence.

Criminal Code*, section 810.2

Table 91: Procedure – Peace Bonds

For procedure and JOIN entries, see CJ Criminal Manual, Peace Bonds (staff link).

7.9 Post-conviction records

A. Absolute and conditional discharges

After the Court has ordered an absolute or conditional discharge (Criminal Code, section 730), there is a limited time for public and media access to the records. After the access time ends, court staff cannot disclose the record and the fact it exists to anyone other than the person who is the subject of the discharge or that person's lawyer.

Upon conviction, if the judge orders an absolute discharge, the offender is regarded as not having been convicted of the offence. The offender cannot again be charged with the same offence. However, the police keep a record of the absolute discharge, and it can be used against the offender if the offender commits another offence.

- After one year from the date of the absolute discharge, court staff cannot tell a requester whether the record or court file exists.

A conditional discharge requires the offender to follow certain rules (terms of probation) for a specified period of time. (Note that a conditional sentence is different from a conditional discharge.) The conditional discharge becomes absolute if the offender complies with the conditions. If the accused breaches the conditions, the accused may be charged with the breach, and the original charge may be brought back to the Court to be prosecuted.

- After three years from the date of a conditional discharge, court staff cannot tell a requester whether the record or court file exists.

Table 92: Procedure – Absolute and conditional discharges

Where an accused, other than an organization, pleads guilty to or is found guilty of an offence ... the Court before which the accused appears may ... instead of convicting the accused, by order direct that the accused be discharged absolutely or on the conditions prescribed in a probation order made under subsection 731(2).

Criminal Code, section 730(1)

In JOIN, the discharge is entered on the sentencing screen (SEN), under probation, and on the CHARGEDET screen it is entered as “conditional discharge” or “absolute discharge.”

- For additional information, see CJ Criminal Manual, Probation Order (staff link).

When an accused receives a discharge, and

- it has been more than one year since an absolute discharge, or
- it has been more than three years since a conditional discharge, court staff cannot tell a requester that the record or file exists, unless the requester is the person who is the subject of the discharge or that person’s lawyer.

The existence of the record and the fact of the discharge cannot be disclosed to anyone, except with the approval of the Solicitor General of Canada.

Criminal Records Act, section 6.1

Record suspensions (formerly “pardons”)

The Parole Board of Canada issues record suspensions (formerly called pardons). A record suspension allows people convicted of a criminal offence to have their criminal record kept separate and apart from other criminal records. After the Parole Board grants a record suspension for an offence, court staff cannot tell a requester whether the file exists, unless the requester is the person who is the subject of the pardon or that person's lawyer. Disclosure to any other person requires the approval of the Solicitor General of Canada.

Anyone who needs copies of court documents to support an application for a record suspension must ask for them at the Trial Court. The Trial Court's information includes any decision made on appeal by the Court of Appeal.

Table 93: Procedure – Record suspensions

After the Parole Board grants a record suspension for an offence, court staff cannot tell a requester whether the record or court file exists, unless the requester is the person who is the subject of the pardon or that person's lawyer. Disclosure to any other person requires prior approval by the Solicitor General of Canada.

Criminal Records Act, section 6

Data entry for record suspension:

1. Upon receiving a notice of Record suspension, place the notice on the top of the file.
2. On the event entry screen in JOIN, enter RSG (Record Suspension Granted). This changes the Record Suspension indicator on the CHRGDET screen from N (No) to Y (Yes).
3. For files in AHI (Accused History), find the file and enter Y in the Record Suspension field. Press F5 twice to update.

Data entry for revocation of record suspension:

1. For charges in JOIN, enter RSS (Revoked Record Suspension) on the event entry screen. This changes the Record suspension indicator on the CHRGDET screen from Y (Yes) to N (No).
2. For charges in AHI (Accused History), find the record and enter R (Revoked) in the Record Suspension or Pardon field. Press F5 twice to update.
3. For charges disposed of before the computer docket system (JOIN or earlier system) began, note Record Suspension Revoked and the date of the revocation in the paper file and in the index book, procedure card or docket control ledger.

Controlled Drugs and Substances Act

Records of convictions that occurred before November 17, 2022 in respect of an offence under section 4(1) (possession of a controlled substance listed in schedules I, II and III) are to be kept separate and apart from other records of convictions by November 16, 2024. Records of convictions that occur after November 17, 2022 in respect of an offence under section 4(1) are to be kept separate and apart from other records of convictions two years after the conviction or two years after the expiry of any sentence imposed for the offence, whichever is later, and the person convicted of the offence is deemed to never have been convicted of that offence.

Waivers of inadmissibility

In the United States, the Department of Homeland Security issues waivers of inadmissibility. These waivers allow a person to enter the United States when they would otherwise be inadmissible. Waivers do not limit access to court information in Canada.

Anyone who needs copies of court documents to support an application for a waiver of inadmissibility must ask for them in the Court of Justice or the Court of King's Bench. This information includes any decision made on appeal by the Court of Appeal.

7.10 Mental State of the Accused

An accused person is presumed to be mentally fit to stand trial and to have the mental capacity to be responsible for their actions. However, an accused's mental state may become an issue before or during the trial.

If the Court has reasonable grounds to believe that an accused is unfit to stand trial, it will make an order for a psychiatrist to assess the accused's current mental state. The psychiatrist will prepare a report, and if necessary, the Court will hold a fitness hearing to decide whether the accused is unfit to stand trial. The psychiatrist's report is an exhibit in the hearing.

- ➔ Some records submitted during a fitness hearing may be unavailable to members of the public and the media.
- ➔ Other publication bans or access restrictions may also apply to these records.

Even if an accused is fit to stand trial, the Court may find that he or she is not criminally responsible (NCR), due to a mental disorder. If the Crown proves that the accused committed a criminal act, but the Court finds the accused not criminally responsible for the act, then usually the Court will refer the accused to a Review Board for a disposition hearing under section 672.45\(1\) of the Criminal Code.

Table 94: Procedure –Disposition hearing

The Court must keep a record of the disposition hearing and include the assessment report in it. Immediately after a disposition, the Court must send the following to the Review Board:

- a transcript of the hearing;
- all documents and information in the Court’s possession; and
- the exhibits or copies of the exhibits.

The Court must provide every party with a copy of the disposition and its reasons for making the disposition.

Criminal Code, section 672.52(1) to (3)

The Court may order that a disposition hearing be held in private.

- ➡ That order would be discretionary. For more about discretionary orders, see Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access.

Table 95: Procedure – Private disposition hearing

The Court may order a private disposition hearing if it is in the best interests of the accused and not contrary to the public interest.

Criminal Code, section 672.5(6)

For court staff procedure on private hearings see Table 12 to Table 16.

Court staff cannot disclose disposition information to the public or the media, and there is a publication ban if:

- The information was withheld from the accused or another party, or
- The judge or the review board finds that the disclosure would be seriously prejudicial to the accused or another person.

If the disposition information was withheld from a person, the Court must also exclude that person from the hearing when the disposition information is presented.

The information may be disclosed to the accused only when the reasons for withholding the information no longer exist.

- ➡ The Court may disclose the disposition information to a person with a valid interest in the record for research, statistical or administration of justice purposes or when authorized in writing by the accused.

- ➔ For how to access disposition hearing information that was withheld from the accused, see Table 5.

Table 96: Procedure – Disposition information withheld

Staff must record orders to withhold disposition information on the “Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access” form (see Appendix 1) and in JOIN, specifying the record or records that were withheld and noting that a judge’s direction is required before staff can give access to a record to members of the public or the media.

- On the “Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access” form, note the order to withhold disposition information on Part II of the form.
- In JOIN, use the code BPF; in the comment screen, note the order pursuant to Criminal Code sections 672.51\(5\) or \(6\), and that access to the record must be approved by a judge. For more details for using BPF, see Table 10.
- Anyone who wants access to the disposition information can request it using the Request for Exhibit or Private Hearing Record.

Criminal Code, section 672.51(6) to (11)

8. Exhibits – Restrictions on Access

- To request access to an exhibit, it is necessary to complete the form Request for Exhibit or Private Hearing Record, and pay the search and copy fees. Only a judge can direct who has access to exhibits.

Unless access to an exhibit is governed by statute or restricted by a sealing order, restricting access to an exhibit is a discretionary decision.

For more about discretionary orders, see Orders Restricting Publication or Public Access.

Table 97: Procedure – Exhibits on court file

Court staff must confirm the status of reports and other documentary exhibits that are not marked as exhibits but are left on the court file.

- Check with the judge – if the judge reviewed them and used them to support a decision, then they should be marked as exhibits.
- If reports and other documents were not consulted by the judge and were not formally entered as exhibits, they should be returned to the person who provided them or destroyed. They should not be left on the court file.

King’s Bench and Court of Justice

For the procedure for access to exhibits, see Table 5.

Court of Appeal

Exhibits that are relevant to the appeal may be included in the Extracts of Key Evidence. Requests to access Extracts of Key Evidence must be made in accordance with the Public Access to the Court Record Policy.

8.1 Exhibits in Civil Matters

In civil matters, most exhibits are documents or reports, and sometimes they are kept on the file permanently. Anyone may ask to view or copy exhibits in civil matters.

The purpose of each of these reports is to give the judge information about the offender to help the judge decide on the appropriate sentence for the offence. A report which examines an Indigenous offender's background and circumstances also aids the judge in fulfilling their duties under s 718.2\(e\) of the Criminal Code.

- Pre-sentence and Gladue reports may be accessible to the public and the media after sentencing; see the form Request for Exhibit or Private Hearing Record. For a description of the procedure, see Table 15: Procedure – Request for private hearing record.

- During the sentencing hearing, the clerk must notify the judge and counsel of the Victim Impact Statement, and whether the victim wishes to read it in court. To read the statement, the victim will take the witness stand and read verbatim what is written in the statement.

For sentencing, court staff must provide copies as soon as practicable after a finding of guilt. Court staff must provide copies to the offender, or the offender's counsel, and the prosecutor.

This is a cumulative record, so if at all possible, the same copy of the form should be used each time the case comes before the court.
- b) When a Judge or Justice of the Peace makes an order outside of court, if a formal form of order has not otherwise been provided, the Judicial Assistant will complete the form, obtain the Judge’s or Justice of the Peace’s signature on it, and bring it to court administration for the court file.
- c) To fill in the form, the Clerk or Judicial Assistant must:
 1. Complete the file information at the top, including the name of the accused or parties, the docket number, and the name of the city or town where the order was made.
 2. Put the name of the Judge and the date in the space across from the order’s description, leaving room for the judge’s signature. Print neatly – this information is important for the court record.
 3. Give it to the judge to sign, or sign on the judge’s behalf.
- d) For statutory orders, in most cases the Clerk or Judicial Assistant can simply write the name of the statute and the section number; for identity bans, add the name(s) of the protected persons. For Parts II (other statutes) and III (common law), add a description or attach a separate note if necessary.

3) Adding the restriction to the docket system

- a) Enter the restriction into the applicable docket system (JOIN, CASES, or CAMS) as soon as possible after the order is made.
- b) Keep the completed form the top of the court file or attached on the front of the Information.
- c) Add any later orders in the same matter to this same form when possible.

4) File transfer or appeal

- a) If the matter is transferred to another court, send the original form to that court. The Court of Appeal accepts photocopies or scans. The earlier court must retain a copy on its file.

5) Reproducing the form

- a) Print or download the form from the intranet Privacy & Access Protocols page, <https://intranet.albertacourts.ab.ca/CS/Pages/Protocols.aspx>. The current version is always posted here.
- b) Do not store large volumes of the form. Statutory provisions may change, making older versions outdated.
- c) Print or copy the form on yellow paper: Boise-Cascade “Goldenrod” paper (Boise MP Colors, Item Number MP2201, Colour Code GD), or similar.
- d) For use in the courtroom, print only the first two pages; print them double-sided. A copy of this instruction page must be kept on the clerk’s desk in every courtroom.
